BOURBON MEET OPENS MONDAY

84 Candidates File Nomination Papers

Charles Chapman, Incumbent Leaves Field to List of New Candidates

FOUR FOR CONGRESS

Clyde Downing and Wettlin File at Late Hour for Post of State Senator

WITH 12 O'CLOCK, noon, marking the final hour for filing as candidates for county, state and national offices, in the August primary and general election in November Orange county faces one of its most hectic political struggles as 84 candidates have hurled their hats into the ring seeking nominations for all political offices ranging downward from United States senators to central committeemen.

The wildest race for favor of the voters is scheduled in the contest for supervisor of the First District. Nine candidates have filed for that post and have started campaigning. Charles H. Chapman, incumbent, did not enter the race leaving the field to an entirely new group of contenders.

Santa Ana men seeking to serve the First District as supervisor are: W. C. Jerome, former county auditor; John Knox, former mayor of Santa Ana; W. B. Martin, president of the Santa Ana Realty Board; Stanley Goode, one time member of the Santa Ana City Council; J. C. Metzgar, former secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce; Wilbur K. Getty, post commander of the Santa Ana Post American Legion; Charles Van Wyk, walnut grower and member of the Santa Ana post of the Legion; E. T. McFadden, banker and Legion member; and B. T. BONUS ARMY CHIEF MEETS OPPOSITION

WASHINGTON, June 25.—(UP)—The unified leadership which has held the veterans' bonus expeditionary force under strict discipline appeared to be crumbling today.

In view of this situation, police forces throughout the city kept in close touch with headquarters and were ready for emergencies.

One indication of the disintegration among the bonus army leaders was the way in which Commander in Chief Walter W. Waters was ignored when he ordered a mass demonstration at the capitol yesterday. None of the various camp commanders and only a few hundred of the rank and file obeyed Waters' order to march to the senate.

A contingent of 450 veterans was denied food by Waters for five hours, until it deposed John Pace of Detroit as commander.

TRAVEL BY PLANE BANNED BY STATE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 25.—(UP)—Airplane travel for trans- action of state business was banned today by the department of finance.

Governor Rolph was not included in the order, because the Governor has his own personal fund, which permits him to choose any method of travel he desires.

Mileage for state employees was reduced from 8 and 5 cents to 5 1-2 cents a mile, after considering claims of 2300 employees. Formerly 6 cents was allowed for paved highways and 8 cents for rough roads.

The new order becomes effective July 1. The maximum allowance of $3 a day for meals will be permitted only when the employee maintains a home for a family.

BAKER ATTACKS PROPOSAL TO ABROGATE NOMINATING RULE

VETERAN STATE JURIST CALLED THIS MORNING

Justice Richards of State Supreme Court Dies in San Jose Home

STAN JOSE, June 25.—(UP)—Justice John E. Richards, 78, of the California supreme court, died at his country home, "Hilltop" here early today.

The veteran jurist, whose career was one of the most distinguished in the judicial history of the west, had been ill more than a month.

His wife, with whom he celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last fall, was at the bedside when he died.

Justice Richards was born in Edendale, Santa Clara county, July 5, 1851, and spent his entire life in California, excepting the years he attended the University of Michigan.

After graduating from the university in 1879, Justice Richards began the practice of law in San Jose, terminating his 28 years of private practice in 1907 when he was appointed a superior court judge in Santa Clara county.

During his long years of law practice the jurist gained prominence by his writings for the news- (Continued on Page 2)

TWO PASSES ACROSS SIERRAS ARE OPEN

SACRAMENTO, June 25.—(UP)—Blocked by heavy snowdrifts ever since last winter, two passes across the Sierra Nevada range were opened for automobile travel today.

They were the Ebbetts pass, 8800 feet elevation, on the Angels Camp-Big Tree highway to Mammoth Lake, and the Carson pass, 8600 feet, on the Jackson to Pine Grove highway.

Both passes link to the East-of-the-Sierras highway. The Carson pass also opens up the Silver Lake road, making it possible for week end vacationists to escape the heat by driving up into the snow country, the state division of highways said.

HITLERITES MAKE RAID ON NEWSPAPER

BERLIN, June 25.—(UP)—Clashing a day of serious political disorders through the nation, a band of 50 brown shirted Hitlerites today attempted a raid upon the printing house of the newspaper Vorwarts, official organ of the Social Democratic party.

Many revolver shots were fired. At least two of the defenders were seriously wounded.

After one Nazi had been seriously injured by a policeman, the Brown Shirts dispersed.

AGED MAN KILLED BY S. P. LOCOMOTIVE

Selma, Calif., June 25.—(UP)—Failure to hear or heed a traffic warning signal today was blamed for the death of N. A. Toorshian, 70, Selma farmer who was fatally injured when his automobile was struck by a Southern Pacific train here.

The locomotive was so badly damaged in the crash it could not take the train into Fresno, where it was bound.

Toorshian's car was carried nearly a quarter mile before the train could be stopped.

These Farmers Have Hard Enough Time

FRESNO, Calif., June 25.—(UP)—Another cherished boyhood prerogative was just a shattered illusion today, a victim of the depression.

Justice of the Peace Earle J. Church handed out 20-day suspended jail sentences to Thomas Oliver, 19, and Edward Sahnders, 20, on charges they took watermelons from a farmer's patch.

"Times are hard enough for the farmers already, without someone taking their crops," he said.

SECRETARY TO MAYOR PORTER UNDER CLOUD

Los Angeles County Grand Jury to Probe Alleged Frame-up Case

LOS ANGELES, June 25.—(UP)—Sensational charges that Wells J. Mosher, confidential secretary to Mayor John C. Porter, had "paid off" a key witness in a frameup case here, will be placed before the grand jury soon, Deputy District Attorney Robert P. Stewart said today.

Mosher, target for acrimony in recent political fights, has admitted that he sent Edward M. Ward $200 monthly since September, 1930, to "stay away from Los Angeles authorities," Stewart said.

Mosher is paid $350 a month in his capacity as "investigator" for Mayor Porter.

Ward was connected with the framing of Police Commissioner Thomas Walkup two years ago, for a part in which Connor (Mike) Shawn, taxi driver, was convicted (Continued on Page 2)

L. A. HIGHWAY COPS JOIN STATE FORCE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 25.—(UP)—The entire traffic squad of the county of Los Angeles will join the California Highway Patrol July 1, according to plans under way here today.

The change will involve the transfer of 78 patrolmen and executives from county to state supervision. Fred W. Cannon, chief of the county organization, will remain in charge, with the title of district inspector.

"For purposes of efficiency the department will be decentralized and the men divided into four squads each covering a separate area," said E. Raymond Cato, chief of the state patrol.

With addition of the Los Angeles patrol, the state traffic organization will have a personnel of 575.

CALIFORNIANS ARRIVE TODAY IN WINDY CITY

Delegates to Bourbon Meet Given Rousing Reception in Chicago

CHICAGO, June 25.—(UP)—The California delegation to the Democratic national convention was greeted like an aggregation of conquering Romans today by the forces of John Nance Garner, to whom the presidential vote of the Californians is pledged.

The American Legion brass band, the Black Horse group, "Greeter" Gaw in a white suit, an escort of police with sirens screaming and all the Garner leaders, including William Gibbs McAdoo, were on hand when the California train rolled in.

The delegates were whisked to the Sherman hotel, location of the main Garner headquarters, and then were taken to the Congress where Garner has another elaborate suite in "Candidates' Row."

State Senator Walter Woodul of Texas and Stillman Evans, two of the leaders in the battle to nominate Garner, kept the band, the police, the greeting and the troop elaborately caparisoned horsemen on hand to welcome the Texas delegation when it arrives tonight.

The Texans are bringing their own musical ensemble, the famous "Old Gray Mare Band," with them to serenade the convention during the dull moments, it was said.

TONIGHT IS LAST TO FILE PAPERS

SACRAMENTO, June 25.—(UP)—Midnight tonight is the "zero hour" for filing declarations of candidacy for United States Senatorial Congressional legislative and judicial positions to be voted on at the August 30 state primary election.

Sarazen Shoots 66 To Capture Open Golf Meet

FRESH MEADOW COUNTRY CLUB, FLUSHING, N. Y., June 25.—(UP)—Gene Sarazen today won the United States Open golf championship, adding the American title to the British Open championship which he won at Sandwich a month ago.

The stocky little New Yorker, who started his golfing career as a caddy, turned in a remarkable 66 for his final round for a four round total of 286. Bobby Cruickshank and Phil Perkins tied for second honors with 289.

Dark Horse Breaks Rule Of Silence

Former Secretary of War Gives Statement Outlining Position

CLEVELAND, June 25.—(UP)—Newton D. Baker broke his political silence today with an attack against threatened attempts to abrogate the century old two-thirds rule of nominating Democratic presidential candidates.

The former secretary of war, whose name has been injected prominently into the Democratic presidential nomination race, despite his own indifference, issued a formal statement here today in which he termed the two-thirds rule a "rule that has made and kept the Democratic party a national party."

"A nomination procured from a majority riding rough shod over the established tradition of the party would be deeply embarrassing both to the party and to the candidate," Baker said.

"Sensitive men would find it difficult to defend a candidate who started out with a moral flaw in his title."

The complete statement read: "Every member of the Democratic party who knows its traditions and is proud of its history have a duty to protest against the proposed amendment of the two-thirds rule at Chicago. That rule has made and kept the Democratic party a national party.

"It has prevented the favoring of sectional candidates against the will of respectable minorities and if the rule is ever changed, (Continued on Page 2)

JAPANESE ATTITUDE STILL NOT CLEARED

GENEVA, June 25.—(UP)—American disarmament delegates attempted today to determine the exact extent of the Japanese opposition to the Hoover disarmament plan and to learn what reservations smaller nations would demand as their price for support.

The Japanese attitude was not clearly outlined before the general commission of the conference, except its opposition to extending existing naval ratios indefinitely instead of making them subject to revision after 1936.

The United Press learned that delegates from Spain, Holland, Switzerland, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Czechoslovakia and Belgium examined the plan in a "friendly critical spirit" with the view of forming a sort of left bloc to outline projects upon which their undivided support would depend.

FALSE IMPRISONED MAN ASKS DAMAGES

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 25.—(UP)—A man sent to prison for "stealing" his own property today sought damages of $5000 for being compelled to serve 14 months in San Quentin prison.

He is C. D. Plum, Sacramento county lumber man convicted in 1928 of stealing 50,000 feet of lumber belonging to Al Newhart, and bringing the lumber to Sacramento where he operated a box factory.

However, when Newhart sued to recover the lumber, a Sacramento county superior court found it belonged to Plum, who was then in prison. An appellate court upheld the verdict.

Governor Rolph issued a pardon to Plum last year, although he made no comment on the man's guilt or innocence.

Expect Price Of Gas To Take Jump

LOS ANGELES, June 25.—(UP)—A two cent increase in the retail price of gasoline, in addition to the new one-cent a gallon federal tax which went into effect this week, was believed inevitable today or Monday.

With the announcement that the allowable production schedule for fields throughout the state had been reached in an oil conservation program, it was indicated the Standard Oil company would immediately carry out its offer to raise the price of crude oil from 75 cents to $1 a barrel.

The deadline for acceptance of Standard's offer was set for today. Some time ago, it offered the increased price if total daily oil production was brought to 476,700 barrels.

CONGRESS WILL BE IN SESSION FOR MANY DAYS

Plan to Adjourn Today is Frustrated When Relief Bill is Held Up

WASHINGTON, June 25.—(UP)—Instead of being able to adjourn today for the summer as it has hoped, Congress is tied up in knots which may take weeks to unravel.

Unemployment relief, economy and appropriation bills all are involved in sharp controversies. Absence of many members at the Democratic National convention also will delay action.

Conferees today began the task of bringing into harmony the divergent houses and senate unemployment relief programs, each proposing expenditure of more than $3,000,000,000 to create jobs to provide for the hungry. The final bill which they evolve is almost certain to cost for at least $5,000,000,000 of bonds for Federal public works.

JUDGE DISMISSES WARNER RECEIVERS

WILMINGTON, Del., June 25.—(UP)—Chief Justice James Pennell, sitting in chambers court, dismissed a receivership suit today which was filed against the Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., by M. P. V. Newcastle of Passaic, N. J.

The suit was the second filed against the picture producing corporation by Newcastle, charging mismanagement by executives of the company and demanding the appointment of receivers.

In dismissing the suit today the court allowed Newcastle to join with Harry Koplar of University City, Mo., who has filed a receivership suit against the Warner company, as a co-complainant with Koplar.

CALIFORNIA BONUS ARMY TAKING REST

SWEETWATER, Tex., June 25.—(UP)—California's principal delegation of bonus marchers bivouaced here today. Commanders Royal W. Robertson said the forces probably would rest here until tomorrow night or Monday, and bring the Fifth Texas division American Legion convention and hold a public church service.

The other members of the army of 1200 men were reported east of here. A detachment of 15 on the freight train which brought most of the "army" here from El Paso were asleep when it left the train here and rode to Fort Worth. Several carloads of marchers were in Dallas, 200 miles east of here, today.

HOT BATTLE EXPECTED AT CONVENTION

Peacemaker Unable to Get Warring Factions Into Line Before Convening

ALL CLAIM VICTORY

Roosevelt Force Say They Have Enough Votes to Kill Two Thirds Rule

(Copyright, 1932, by United Press) CONVENTION HEADQUARTERS, Chicago, June 25.—(UP)—Angry Democrats bared weapons today to fight to the bitter end in their convention opening Monday.

Peacemakers fearing a repetition of the 1924 Madison Square Garden debacle, counseled harmony but were spurned by both embittered factions.

Roosevelt forces claimed they had enough votes to drive through their attempt to name the convention's permanent chairman, to knock out the century old two-thirds rule and nominate their candidate by a simple majority on the first ballot.

Smith forces charged unfair tactics. They said Roosevelt was trying to switch the rules while the ball was in play. They are bringing all of the tricks of the master political minds of the party into the fight.

Delegates arriving in large numbers were dismayed at the threatened convention fight. They fear it may even exceed the disastrous struggle of Madison Square Garden in bitterness, and wreck the party's chances this year.

Temper High. Workers in rival factions are saying worse things about each other than they ever said about President Hoover. "Double crosser," Smith workers mutter. (Continued on Page 2)

PLANE IS FORCED DOWN IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Mex., June 25.—(UP)—Forced down near Toluca, State of Toluca, by bad weather and a limited supply of fuel, Earle P. Halliburton, millionaire Los Angeles oil man, his wife, son, and Miss Iris Good, escaped injury when their tri-motored plane landed in a field yesterday.

The Halliburtons were brought here by automobile late last night. They have been flying down the coast of Mexico for several months.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, June 25. (To the Editor of The Register.) Well, Mr. Hoover's disarmament plan fell just like all of 'em have. Nations that have none say it's "fine," but the ones that are well armed say it's terrible. I have been to every one of those disarmament conferences both here and in Europe, and if there is one thing that has been absolutely proven that can't be done it's to get countries to agree on what constitutes protection. We can make some fine proposals over here, for Mexico and Canada are not so strong, but you put us over there in the midst of that mess, and, brother, we would go out and buy another gun, too. We ought to set by a day of thanksgiving, blessing the Atlantic and Pacific oceans for their splendid judgment in locating where they did. Yours, WILL ROGERS.

of conspiracy to engineer a false arrest. He is now at liberty on bail pending an appeal from his two year sentence.

Shawn and Helen Lee, blonde waitress, allegedly conspired with others to lure Mayor Walkup into a compromising position, and Ward, in a capacity as investigator for Mosher, was to cause his arrest.

The plot failed, and Ward, at Mosher's suggestion, left the city. Ward claimed in his story to police. He had been traveling about the country until a week ago when he was arrested in San Antonio Tex.

Police had trailed Mosher to a lawyer's office where the latter left money for Ward. It was claimed, and took into custody Ward's wife when she went to secure the funds.

Mosher assertedly admitted sending the money "because it was the manly thing to do." He denied knowledge of the intended framing of Mayor Walkup, although Ward claimed Mosher ordered him to cooperate with Shawn in "getting the goods" on the police commissioner.

Mayor Porter has instructed police "to go to the bottom of the case, no matter who is involved." Chief of Detectives Joe Taylor said today.

Although Mosher's job has been abolished effective July 1 as an economy measure, Mayor Porter suggested in the meantime "he'd better take a vacation."

Ward was indicted with Shawn in the frameup, but evaded arrest until a week ago.

BUSINESS DEMANDS CUTS

Demand for governmental economy and lower taxes was voiced by American business leaders when 2000 men, representing trade, financial and agricultural organizations, joined in the National Conference for the Reduction of Governmental Expenditures, at Chicago. Here are two of the speakers conversing before they took the rostrum: George R. Among those who greeted the Californians were Mrs. Lorraine Russell and Mrs. George J. Knox, of San Francisco, and Mrs. Charles Donohue, national committee woman.

Dr. Malaby said he thought California was opposed to a change in the two-thirds rule. The delegation will caucus later today.

CABBAGE, CORN OR HIDES WILL BUY Y SERVICE

The Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. has not only reduced its rates for membership and room rentals, in keeping with the spirit of the times, but has gone even further in its efforts to be of service, according to word which comes from the Y office.

Produce of various kinds is now being accepted in payment in place of money.

An enterprising service station man last week took out a summer membership for which he is paying in gasoline. Another, a painter, desiring to be a member, arranged to trade work in his lines instead of paying in cash.

"We can accept any goods which we would otherwise have to buy," said Secretary Smedley, "whenever by so doing we can help a man to get the benefits of the Y. M. C. A. membership. We are prepared to accept firewood, potatoes, shelled corn, buffalo hides, pumpkins, cabbage, gasoline, postage stamps, or whatever we can use or trade off in turn. In addition to accepting payment in trade or work, we are trying to care for as many men as possible free of charge, so that those who need our service may have it when they are without resources. We are limited at present in the amount of this service that we can give, but shall go as far as we can with it.

"Meantime, we are as usual teaching men and boys to swim, play and keep themselves fit in our program of health education. We expect within a few days to be able to announce the starting of a class in swimming for boys from 8 to 10 years of age, which will be offered in response to numerous requests. Boys are crowding our building daily, now that vacation is here, playing, swimming and having a general good time. We can care for more than at present, and we invite the boys to take advantage of our free membership, extended to boys from 8 to 11 years of age."

BOURBONS SET FOR OPENING OF CONCLAVE

"What a pall!" Roosevelt's supporters remark as they look across from their headquarters to the row of Smith placards bearing libels at the man who just four years ago next Monday placed in nomination at the Houston convention the man he warmly lauded as "the happy warrior."

Alarmed over the fatal possibilities in this thunderstorm of anger, Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi attempted unsuccessfully to work out a compromise.

But neither side is in any mood to consider peace without victory.

"We have the votes and we are going right down the line," said James A. Farley, manager for Governor Roosevelt.

"There can be no compromise over principles," said Smith.

First test were carried easily by Roosevelt forces.

They have taken complete control of the committee which will draft the party platform. Six of the nine men in that group are Roosevelt men.

They demonstrated control of the Democratic national committee in the first two show-downs there.

Then Roosevelt Minnesota delegation was recognized over the pro-Smith delegation by a vote of 71 to 14. The delegation of Senator Huey Long of Louisiana, pro-Roosevelt, was recognized 55 to 22.

Roller Works Well

What the opposition politely terms the Roosevelt steam roller did its first task with perfect efficiency. It looked more like an armored tank to some who saw it rolling toward them today.

Roosevelt forces stood solidly apparently in their assault on the historic two-thirds rule. Josephus Daniels, North Carolina, who as secretary of navy in the Wilson administration was Roosevelt's immediate superior, declared the two-thirds rule was misnamed. He called it the one-third veto rule.

The prohibition plank tentatively agreed upon by the influential pro-Roosevelt members of the Democratic platform committee was outlined to the United Press today as including in its present form an unqualified submission of the question of retention or repeal to state constitutional conventions.

In contrast to the proposal of Gov. Alfred E. Smith to modify the Volstead act pending repeal, the plank discussed by pro-Roosevelt committeemen would contain a pledge for strict law enforcement pending expression of popular will.

There also would be a pledge of federal assistance for states which desired to remain dry, and the plank would assert party recognition of general opposition to the return of the saloon.

The question of retention or repeal would have to be submitted in the form of a constitutional amendment, and would be authorized by congress for presentation to state constitutional conventions called for that specific purpose.

An informal draft of such a plank is ready for submission to the platform subcommittee late today. The Roosevelt forces are in the majority in the subcommittee.

20 ARMY SHIPS PROMISED FOR AIR SHOW HERE

Officials at the Eddie Martin Airport yesterday definitely announced that the Dedication Air Show planned to inaugurate the recently installed boundary lights at the port, will be held July 10.

The show will start at 11 o'clock in the morning and continue through the entire day and evening until 8 p. m. when dedicatory services for the lights will be held. Officials at the airport in charge of plans for the show have announced that every cent taken in during the day will be turned over to the unemployed.

The show is being presented through the cooperation of the Santa Ana Post of the American Legion and its Auxiliary, army officials at March Field and airplane manufacturers.

The only charge in connection with the air show will be a fee of 25 cents parking for automobiles at the airport. Parking tickets will be sold by Auxiliary members and the money turned over to the unemployed of the city.

Delay in announcing the definite date for the air show was necessary until all arrangements for the appearance of army airplanes and pilots could be completed. Thursday afternoon Rodney Bacon, commander of Santa Ana post of the Legion, "Ace" Jackson, chief pilot at the Martin airport, Dule Decker and Burdette Ives flew to March Field in a plane and piloted by Morton Brown and completed arrangements for the appearance of army fliers on that day.

After a conference with Lieutenant Bowman, contact officer at the army field, it was announced officially that 20 planes and pilots would be sent to Santa Ana for the show.

In addition to the army fliers every manufacturer of airplanes in Southern California and all commercial airlines have agreed to have the latest type airplanes on exhibition here for that day.

An elaborate program is being arranged and will be announced later.

CONGRESS WILL BE IN SESSION FOR MANY DAYS

assault on these bond issue proposals, terming them "destructive," "wasteful," "pork barrel" legislation which would unbalance the budget, lay new burdens on taxpayers and provide little relief to unemployed.

Senator Wagner, Dem. N. Y., author of the Senate relief bill, promised to reply to Mr. Hoover from the Senate floor this afternoon.

The President's vigorous statement was widely interpreted in congress as indicating he will veto the relief measure if the bond issue is retained.

After the bill is approved, Congress undoubtedly will remain in session to wait for Mr. Hoover either to sign or veto it. If he vetoes it and efforts to override the veto fail, a modified bill probably would be passed. Leaders of both parties promise enactment of relief before Congress goes home.

The $50,000,000 government economy bill must go back to conference again. The Senate refused to accept house provisions exempting employees earning up to $1200 a year and from the proposed "five day week" furlough system. The Senate wants a $1000 exemption, until Monday and probably not until late in the week. The House yesterday recessed for the week end.

Wife Says Brief Wedded Life Was Full of Trouble

The married life of Mrs. Lois L. Edmondson and Walter Edmondson of Orange was brief but filled with action, according to a suit filed yesterday by Mrs. Edmondson seeking an interlocutory decree of divorce.

The couple married in Tia Juana January 1, 1930, and separated last Wednesday after Edmondson is alleged to have told his wife to get out of the house as he was "fed up" with her. The invitation to leave the home was extended on Sunday after an argument that started at church, but it was not until Wednesday that she left.

Earlier in the month, according to the complaint Edmondson kicked his wife out of bed with such violence that she was painfully hurt and a few days later, when she requested him to take her to the cemetery to place flowers on the grave of her father, he drove so recklessly that she became frightened and he swore at her for remonstrating.

Battling in the Edmondson family started just six months after the wedding, according to the wife's complaint. She alleges that while they were in Ventura, her husband struck her on the head with such force that she fell from a davenport on which she had been seated.

NEWTON BAKER ATTACKS PLAN TO BREAK RULE

It ought not to be by a convention elected under it or in the interest of any particular section or candidate.

"The Democrats of the United States have selected and instructed their delegates to Chicago in the expectation that the two-thirds rule would apply. Our representatives at Chicago have no right to change that rule after we have instructed our delegates."

"A nomination procured from a majority riding rough shod over the established traditions of the party would be deeply embarrassing both to the party and the candidate. Sensitive men would find it difficult to defend a candidate who started out with a moral flaw in his title."

Addressing members of First National Association, an organization of First National bank employees, Bob Weaver last night discussed at length California's problems in connection with the coming Olympic Games in Los Angeles July 30-August 14.

Weaver said the need for finances was pressing if Los Angeles is to accomplish its ambition of making the Tenth Olympiad the greatest of all international athletic classics. He urged his auditors to purchase Olympic pins and encourage others to do likewise.

After summarizing the ancient Olympics, Weaver plunged into a discourse of the modern Games, beginning with the 1896 renewal at Athens, to which the United States sent 13 competitors, through the Games at Paris, St. Louis, London, Stockholm, Antwerp, Paris and Amsterdam.

The Los Angeles Games, he stated, will be entered by 56 nations and several thousand individual competitors.

WELFARE WORK DISCUSSED BY ORANGE BOARD

ORANGE, June 25.—Discussion of co-operation between the Orange Community Welfare board and the Unemployed association was held at a meeting of the former organization yesterday at the American Legion clubhouse. The project formed the greater part of the session's discussion.

It was pointed out by W. W. Perry that the two organizations, working separately, were apt to duplicate help given to the same families unless a check were made. Willingness on the part of the Unemployed association to make such a check was expressed by the representatives present, W. T. Fogle and J. V. Smith.

Perry gave a report of a meeting of the executive board of the Welfare board and representatives of the Unemployed association regarding the division of the work in unemployment relief here. Perry said that it had been suggested that the work to be given out should be handled through the Unemployed association and the relief work be done by the Welfare board. He said he understood that at a meeting of the Unemployed association the proposition had been rejected. J. V. Smith confirmed Perry's statement that 219 persons are being aided from day to day by the association and that supplies of milk, bread, potatoes, meat and vegetables were received and given out daily.

That there was considerable antagonism felt by members of the Unemployed association toward the Welfare board was a statement made by Fogle. He said that he believed that in course of time something might be worked out. In a lengthy discussion which resulted, a friendly spirit of co-operation was evidenced between the two organizations and steps will be taken to further present plans along co-operative lines.

Smith asked that persons interested in the unemployed come to meetings, which are held weekly. Frank V. Maroney and W. W. Perry were appointed to attend a meeting held last night.

Plans for a drive for funds are to be made, it was decided following the announcement that there was but $185.76 in the treasury. It was stated that $146.28 had been spent in welfare work during the month. The matter of staging the drive was left with the executive board with power to act.

Mrs. Lillian Weitenmann, welfare worker, reported that during the past month 29 families had been aided, 14 men and four women given jobs and eight men placed on the gas line.

George Sherwood said that an acre of good ground with water was available to anyone who wished to cultivate it.

EXHIBITION OF DRUM CORPS IS BOWL THRILLER

Under a roar of applause that continued throughout the spectacular exhibition, five American Legion Drum and Bugle corps—Anaheim, Torrance, San Bernardino, Benjamin J. Bowie (Los Angeles), and Santa Ana—appeared in an exhibition drill as the feature of a Drum Corps party which members of the Santa Ana Post 121 sponsored in the Olive Street Bowl last night.

Introduced by Ernest N. Winbiller, announcer, the five drum majors—Charles K. Eaton of Anaheim, Alex McVail of Torrance, Charles Rakow of San Bernardino, Jessie Kimbrough of the Benjamin J. Bowie Post, and Eddie Couron of Santa Ana—paraded before the large audience and then marched to the rear of the Bowl, where their respective corps were in preparation.

Distinguished by their different colored uniforms, the teams were allowed 10 minutes each to display their work, and appeared before the grandstand in the following order:

The Torrance team of 23 members, clad in white uniforms trimmed in black, came forward, with their silver helmets sparkling. Then came the San Bernardino delegation of 20, in their blue uniforms trimmed in white. Anaheim followed, dressed in blue, and varied its form of drill from that presented by Torrance and San Bernardino.

The Benjamin J. Bowie Post, composed entirely of colored veterans, received tremendous applause with its large delegation of 67 men. Under the direction of Curtis Carpenter, drill commander, the Los Angeles drill team, which performed separately, later marched with members of the Santa Ana women's auxiliary, which stood in the far section of left field with the various American Legion banners.

The music, drum major and marching of the colored post were the sources of much discussion among the spectators.

Santa Ana's colorful corps, hailed as prospective national champion, ended the 50-minute exhibition, with its 42 members, clad in their new red and maroon uniforms, forming a straight line across the east grounds of the Bowl, and then marching into various formations under the direction of Eddie Couron, drum major who twirled his baton like a pinwheel on the Fourth of July.

Proceeding the drill exhibition, a baseball game between the Santa Ana and Anaheim Posts were held, with Mayors Paul Witmer of Santa Ana and Martinette of Anaheim; Rodney Bacon, Santa Ana Commander, and Ed Campbell, Anaheim Commander, as the officials. Franklin G. West, past Commander of the Santa Ana Post, served as announcer.

Accuse Partners Of Using Store Fund for Selves

Accusing Fred C. and O. E. Fawcett, business partners, with converting money from a drug store at Costa Mesa to their own use, Sidney L. Bean and Winifred Bean, other members of the firm, have filed suit in superior court demanding an accounting.

According to the complaint the Beans and Fawcetts are owners of a drug store on the Mesa. The Beans own a third interest and a third is owned by each of the Fawcetts. Since the time of the partnership, the Beans allege, their partners assumed charge of the books and all money received in the store. Several requests for an accounting have been refused. It is charged, and the suit was filed to force the Fawcetts into accounting for all business transacted and for money received.

FOUR COUPLES GAIN LEGAL SEPARATION

Four matrimonial ships were scuttled yesterday through decrees of two superior court judges. Three of the ships were sunk through the usual interlocutory decrees and the fourth was scuttled by an annulment.

Superior Judge James L. Allen granted one decree and Judge George W. Freeman, of San Bernardino, sitting in department three, handed down two decrees and the annulment.

Thelma Thompson was granted an annulment of her marriage with Donald Thompson when she told the court that, after the ceremony, she learned that Thompson had a wife from whom he had not secured a divorce.

Noel C. Parker was so jealous that he flew into a rage and struck his wife when she remarked that a man whose picture appeared in a newspaper was "good looking." Mrs. Elizabeth Parker told this and other acts of cruelty to Judge Freeman and was given an interlocutory decree of divorce.

Because Cloyes Pileh, tire salesman, told his wife he was "selling tires" when he remained away from home nights, and on two occasions struck her, Mrs. Nettie Pileh was awarded a decree of divorce, custody of the couple's child and $20 monthly for its support.

Judge Allen handed down an interlocutory decree of divorce to Mrs. Lucile Davis when she told him her husband Wesley K. Davis deserted her June 5, 1930.

MUNRO NAMED MAYOR OF CAMP OSCEOLA BY 'Y'

CAMP OSCEOLA, June 25.—Election of camp officials resulted as follows:

Mayor, George Munro, Cabin 9; Councilmen, Darrel Gaebe, Cabin 10, Ray Walkinshaw, Cabin 8, Lloyd Gibbs, Cabin 7, Victor Rowland, Cabin 6, Bob Warren, Cabin 5, Frank Was, Cabin 4, Phil Lamm, Cabin 3.

The Camp Mayor caught his fish, with the result that his cabin mates enjoyed a trout breakfast today. The campers have selected as their service project the task of diverting the stream which flows past the amphitheater. When this is completed, they will build two fireplaces, between which will be located the stage for program uses. In addition, they are shingling several cabin ends and staining some of the roofs which have weathered. The parade ground is being cleared of boulders. This is a big job. You see what looks like a small rock showing through the surface. You start to dig it out, and you find a huge boulder weighing several tons. No attempt is made to lift these rocks out. They simply dig a hole beside the boulder and topple the mass into the hole. It is making a real improvement in the baseball field.

The camp physician is passing his time clearing a place for a new tennis court. The boys have given him no chance for professional practice as yet.

This afternoon the baseball series starts with a game between teams headed by Chris Demetrious and Jack McCarty. The lineup of the teams is as follows: Demetrious, captain; Haskill, Tadlock, Shields, Spurgeon, Mather, E. Gaebe, Stevens.

McCarty, captain; Nail, Oings, Youel, Hillard, Rowland, Rice, W. Lamm, Haskill and Dr. Haulose.

On Saturday afternoon, the Osceola team will play the team from Redlands Y. M. C. A. camp.

Walter Kring is editor of the Daily Osceola Grumbler, assisted by Horace Munger, Jerry Rowland, Bob Tannenbaum, James Doyle, Chick Shields and Carl Carlson. They are putting out a fine paper.

The camp started off this year with 42 Ragers, which gives a wonderfully fine spirit throughout. Everyone has settled down to the business of having a good time and making the camp the best one the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. has ever put on.

Recommendations for the rag made today include: Carl Doas, George Haskill, Wilton Hillard, Duane Smith and Orville Hurd.

The weather is ideal, and the boys are thoroughly enjoying the work and play in this wonderful atmosphere, under the great trees, beside the Santa Ana River. There is no sickness among the boys, and conditions are as fine as could be wished.

BAND CONCERT SEASON OPENS NEXT THURSDAY

One of the most pretentious programs ever offered by any musical organization in Southern California is outlined by the Santa Ana municipal band which will open the summer concert series at Birch park next Thursday evening at 7:45 p.m.

The local band has been drilled throughout the winter months by conductor D. C. Clafford, one of the outstanding musicians in Southern California whose recognition is well known here and abroad.

In addition to the well balanced program presented by the band, there will be the newly organized municipal chorus of 25 selected singers of the community who have offered their service in behalf of the welfare of the city. This chorus will appear on five concerts starting next Thursday, alternating with five soloists whom appear the other five nights, closing the season on Thursday evening, Sept. 6.

Throughout the season there will be the usual outstanding special nights with well-known soloists appearing on the program. The second concert, July 7, will be dedicated to the memory of the late John Philip Sousa, the dean of the Bandmaster of America. The program of that evening will be made up mostly of Sousa's popular compositions and his last march written for the Washington Bicentennial celebration before his death; also a Memorial Funeral march with chimes accompaniment will be played in his memory.

The remainder of the outstanding nights are Victor Herbert Night, July 14; George Washington Night, July 21; Russian Night, July 28; California Night, August 4; German Night, August 11; Italian Night, August 18; Spanish Night, August 25; and Santa Ana Night, September 6. It is gratifying to know that several local young players will make their bow to Santa Ana audience on June 26th for the first time. These players have received individual instructions as well as class instructions from the band director and are what we may call the musicians of tomorrow.

4 CASES SETTLED AT ONE COURT SESSION

Continued from the morning session there were four cases called yesterday afternoon on the criminal calendar in department two of superior court.

Paul Hale, accused of lewd and lascivious conduct, pleaded not guilty at his arraignment and demanded a jury trial. Superior Judge James L. Allen set June 29 as the date for his trial.

Pedro Gonzales pleaded guilty to burglarizing the home of J. Schuringa on Ball road on the night of June 12 and entered a plea for probation and deportation back to his home in Mexico. His case was taken under advisement for two weeks when he will be given a hearing on his petition.

Alfred Clemente, Filipino, pleaded guilty to a charge of forging an endorsement to a $10 check and petitioned the court for probation. His hearing was set for July 8. Having been held in jail for the past month pending the posting of a $150 bond to guarantee support of his minor child, Raymond C. Horton came into court and asked that judgment be pronounced. He said he could not raise the bond. Judge Allen sentenced him to six months in the county jail and allowed the month already served to apply on his sentence. Horton will be given work and the Welfare department instructed to pay $1.50 for each day's work for the support of his family.

Six Months For Drunk-Driving

Recently convicted on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, by a jury that recommended a term in the county jail, Dan Reynolds of Riverside county appeared before Judge James L. Allen and was sentenced to serve six months in jail. Reynolds' operators' license was suspended for a similar period.

LOCAL STARS SHINE AT BENEFIT SHOW

Everyone who helped the unemployment of the city by attending the benefit performance staged by the Unemployed association last night in the theater of the Ebell club also did themselves a favor, for the entertainment offered was pleasing to the eye and ear and varied enough to suit any taste.

Totos Marionettes in a travelogue, "Peggy in Holland," was well received. The song and dance numbers arranged through the courtesy of the Metro Studios of Dancing and Dramatic Arts, operated with other local schools, notably the Putnam school, featured Katherine Hambricht, petite song and dance artist, Darlene White in dramatic readings, Junior Kavenaugh and the Putnam dancers, Betty Blossom Goble, the Sunshine Girls, Louise Goble, Jean McKamy, Lois Wright, Drusilla Clemm and many others. We hope we may have many shows of this calibre.

AUTO CRASH BRINGS A 2ND $51,000 SUIT

M. H. Lewis was named defendant in another damage action filed in superior court yesterday as the result of an automobile accident last February near Newport Beach in which two boys were seriously injured. A similar action demanding $51,000 was filed several days ago.

The action today was filed by Ralph H. Stevens, individually and as guardian for Clayton H. Stevens, his 15-year-old son who was hurt in the accident. The new suit demands judgment for a total of $21,000.

According to the complaint, young Stevens was riding in an automobile with John Williams on Ocean boulevard when the machine driven by Lewis crashed into it. The Williams car was demolished and young Stevens received serious skull injuries and broken bones in addition to a severe nervous shock. The action is demanding $20,000 actual damages and $1000 for money expended in doctor and hospital bills by the boy's father.

The Collins boy riding in the Williams automobile with young Stevens received injuries which are said to be permanent. In a suit filed by his father as an individual and guardian for the son, Collins is asking $51,000.

MRS. D. W. BATTIN LAID TO REST HERE

The funeral of Mrs. D. W. Battin, sister of Miss Sedalia Cubison of 805 Bush street, was held at the Knof Snyder Mortuary in Colton at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, with Rev. C. E. Ruckman of the Methodist church in charge.

A month ago Mrs. Battin, very ill, was brought from her home in Montana to the home of her daughter in Colton, a teacher in the high school there. The large attendance at the services and the wealth of floral tributes were evidence, not only of the high regard in which Miss Battin was held but also of the many friendships she had established during her many visits here.

A large group of Colton friends accompanied the relatives to Santa Ana, where interment was made in the family lot in the Santa Ana cemetery. Dr. Warner of the Methodist church and many friends from Santa Ana and the nearby towns met them upon their arrival at 1 o'clock, and a brief but most sympathetic committal service was held at the grave.

TEST CASE ON REFERENDUM TO BE TRIED HERE

In an effort to remove an almost insurmountable obstacle to the filing of referendum petitions, Orange county today was selected as the setting for a test case of the new California initiative law. Proponents of the movement to abolish the trust deed by ballot of the people, presented an initiative petition for filing with County Clerk J. M. Backs. Under a friendly agreement with the petitioners, who represent the Citizens' Trust Deed Reform league, Backs rejected the petition on the ground that its signers had failed to designate their voting precincts on the petition.

This legal requirement, added to the law on initiative and referendum petitions in August, 1931, is to be tested in the courts, with the cooperation of the county clerk, for the purpose of "clarifying the situation for the benefit of all concerned," it was explained.

Because the average elector is not familiar with the number of his voting precinct, it is said that the addition of the precinct designation requirement is an almost insurmountable obstacle to the filing of petitions.

The petition rejected by Backs today carried 75 signatures of Orange county voters. It was presented by Leslie H. Kranz, Los Angeles attorney, president of the Citizens' Trust Deed Reform league. The league is aiming its movement at submission of the initiative proposal to abolish the trust deed of the November election ballot. W. M. Burke and Reeves Ayimore, Santa Ana attorneys, are local counsel for the league.

Orange county was selected for the test case, instead of Los Angeles, league headquarters, because of the smaller population and, therefore, smaller number of signatures required for a petition.

PREPARING TO WAR ON BUNK BARGAIN SALES

Election of temporary officers and directors and arrangement of plans for drafting a city ordinance with "teeth" in it to prevent the unloading of bankrupt stocks in Santa Ana by out-of-town merchants featured the first meeting of the board of directors of the newly organized Merchants' Division of the chamber of commerce.

James Harding, manager of Chandler's Furniture store, was named organization chairman at the meeting. Directors named were Carl Mock, Herbert Rankin, Bruce Switzer, James Harding, N. E. Willard, Robert Shilling, Eugene Kahan, Otto Haan, Glenn Tidball, Claude McDowell, Walter Swamberger and Robert L. Brown.

Permanent organization with election of permanent officers and directors who will serve for a six-month term will be effected at a general meeting of all members to be held in 30 days, it was announced by A. Cavalli, manager of the new division.

Cavalli was authorized by the board to write to a number of cities to obtain copies of their ordinances on licensing of business establishments with the view of formulating a rigid ordinance, which can be enforced here to prevent fraudulent "bankrupt" and "closing out" sales.

The object of the new organization is to promote a better understanding among merchants of the city, to form a strong organization of merchants to promote better business conditions in the city and to make the city the shopping center of Orange county.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

by Laura Lou Brookman

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Cherry Dixon, 19 and pretty, falls in love with Dan Phillips, newspaper reporter whom her wealthy, aristocratic parents have forbidden her to see. When Cherry learns Dan's telephone messages have been taken from her, she steals out of the house to meet him. Her father disapproves this and threatens to send her to California. Cherry defies him and he orders her to leave.

She goes to Dan, tells him what has happened and asks him to marry her. The ceremony is performed that night by a justice of the peace. Friends of Dan stage a party for them. Next day Cherry, who has only the dress she is wearing, goes shopping. She opens a charge account and the bill totals $25.70. She returns to the hotel. Someone knocks on the door.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XI

Cherry said "Oh—" and then her voice dropped in disappointment. A bell boy in blue uniform stood at the door. He held a large pasteboard box bearing in heavy lettering the name, "The Stanley Company."

"Package for you, Mrs. Phillips," Cherry told him to put the box down and rummaged in her purse for a coin. The door clicked on the youth's retreating back.

There were her purchases of the afternoon. Cherry considered the package doubtfully. Ninety-three dollars and seventy cents spent for a few simple garments. Suddenly she wished she had not gone shopping. It seemed a huge sum—$93.70. Why it was almost $100. In the store she had thought only that the dresses were becoming, that she wanted Dan to see how well she looked in them.

Now she would have to tell him how much they had cost. She wished she had bought something for Dan instead of for herself. Here it was, the first day of her marriage, and she had spent almost the whole time buying two dresses. The dresses should have been taken out and hung away so they would not be wrinkled. In her dissatisfaction, Cherry carried the box unopened to the clothes closet and pushed it back in the shadows. Then she straightened with a sigh and returned to the window to wait for Dan.

She thought she might see him coming down the street but half an hour later when his key turned in the lock the sound startled her.

"Oh, Dan—I'm so glad you've come!"

She flew into his arms. Dan's arms, so strong, so comforting. The touch of his cheek against her temple. Swift, reassuring kisses. Suddenly the dreary, old-fashioned room might have been a palace. It might have been a moon-drenched tropical garden or a silver ship deck. Cherry knew only that when Dan was here, she was happy and there she would be happy. Money, beautiful surroundings, pretty clothes, what did any of these matter?

She looked up at him through shining, tear-spangled lashes.

"Why, darling! What's the matter?"

"It's—it's because I'm so happy, Dan!"

He crushed her close again in a quick embrace, laughing. "Is that the way you saw it when you're happy—getting your eyes all red with tears? Someone will be saying Dan Phillips beats that beautiful young wife of his or looks her up without anything to eat."

"Say it again, dear!"

"Say what?"

"I love to hear you call me your wife."

Tender words, softly whispered.

Precious, precious moments. They stole past swiftly until the orange glow faded above the ragged city skyline and dusk settled in the streets.

"Was it a long day, Cherry? Were you lonesome?"

"It doesn't matter now. Everything's all right so long as you're here again."

"What did you do this afternoon?"

There it was! A cold hand seemed to settle over the girl's heart. She didn't want to remember the way she had spent the afternoon. Cherry evaded:

"Oh, I went out for a while and walked around. Then I came back to the hotel and read the paper and waited. I spent a lot of time getting ready for dinner."

"Ah, dinner! Reminds me I have a date with a certain young woman. If I keep her waiting much longer she's probably angry at my feet. Get your hair done, Cherry. I'll just remove the surface grime from this battered old face and be ready in two seconds!"

As they went through the door a little later Phillips remarked casually, "By the way, honey, I thought we'd go to the Wellington tonight but—well, the fact is I intended to get a check cashed and then forgot. Would you mind if we drop in at a little place I know over on Locust street? Nothing very fancy, but the food's o.k."

She assured him she did not mind. Out on the street Cherry raised her head proudly. She wished the whole world could see her walking beside this tall young man who loved her and was so good to her. She wished above all else that her father and mother might see their daughter at that moment.

Perhaps Dan read her thoughts. He took her arm as they crossed a street and the pressure of his fingers was more than solicitude. He said in a low voice:

"Not sorry about anything, are you, kid?"

"I'm never going to be sorry about anything again, Dan. Not ever!"

"Like happy children they laughed aloud. The astounding thing was that they really believed it. The "little place over on Locust street" proved to be exactly as Dan had described it. It was not fancy in the least. The sign on the window read "Schroeder's Restaurant." Charlie Schroeder, the proprietor, came forward to meet them. He greeted Dan cordially and led the way to a table in the rear of the long, narrow room.

It's a fine old building, Mr. Phillips. Great things we're having these days. Takes people out of doors—makes them hungry. You like this table? It's all right, yes? Now then, maybe you'll have some of the pot roast and noodles—"

Schroeder was a short, fat man with florid cheeks and small eyes that seemed to crinkle with perpetual good humor. His manner was almost that of a host. He bowed almost at Cherry when Dan introduced her, then hastened to greet some newcomers.

The restaurant was about half-filled. There seemed to be more men than women at the tables. The furniture was all of dark brown wood and there was a dark brown ceiling light that was a mellow glow over Cherry entered. As her eyes became accustomed to the dim light she found it restful.

The tables had crisp white covers and no flowers. Waiters, carrying heavily laden trays, set down dishes that were thick and generous-sized. Dan glanced up from the menu card. "See anything you like?" he asked.

"Yes, lots of things. I'll have the roast lamb and broccoli—"

Dan gave the orders, then leaned back comfortably.

"Now then," he said, "I guess we'll eat. To tell the truth I'm almost famished. Only had a sandwich at noon. That restaurant out at the airport doesn't go in for anything very elaborate."

"Oh, tell me about it, Dan. Did those girl flyers finally get here?"

Phillips shook his head in disgust. "No, after we hung around about three hours the word came that they'd had engine trouble and landed in some God-forsaken corn field. Probably be held up for a day or so. Anyhow Groves will be on the job tomorrow and I don't have to worry about it."

"What else did you do today?"

He gave her a sketchy report. Police station. A run out to a suburban community where a grocery store had been held up. A session with Patrick Maloney, who aspired to be commissioner of public safety. The air port. Back to the office and away with Reeves, photographer, to get pictures for a feature about traffic conditions under the antiquated regulations the News was campaigning to change.

"And did you have to write about all those things? I don't see how you could ever do it—"

Phillips grinned. "This wasn't much of a day," he said. "Wait until something really happens! No, I didn't write much. Most of the stuff I telephoned."

There was something Cherry had forgotten. Now she spoke of it. "Did you see the morning paper? I mean what it said about us?"

"Sure. Front page and everything. The News and Sentinel both carried your picture. 'Society Bud Weds Reporter.' That shows you where I come in, doesn't it?"

He was smiling and Cherry knew that he had suggested it as a joke. Still she didn't like to have Dan even suggest that there were differences in their social position.

"You should have seen what that crazy gang at the office did," Dan went on. "Bells and ribbons and silly little dolls tied to my typewriter and desk. It was a sight! There was a lot of kidding of course. By the way, Cherry, you made a big hit last night. Everybody said so. They're all strong for you."

He paused and the bantering light left his eyes. "We haven't had much chance to talk," he went on. "I've—well, I've been thinking about things today. First of all I want you to know I think it was pretty swell of you to stand by me when your father said all he did. That's real loyalty. Yes sir! With a girl like you, Cherry, I'm not afraid to tackle anything!"

Her eyes answered him.

Phillips continued. "I know we'll get ahead all right, but it's going to mean going slow for a while. You won't mind that, will you, darling? All I'm getting is 50 bucks a week now. Not bad as the pay is here on the News but of course I'm going to make a lot more. I've always thought I'd write short stories or maybe a play. Maybe I couldn't—maybe I wouldn't be good enough—but anyhow I'm going to settle down and give it a try. You know there's lots of money in short stories if you can sell to the right magazines."

"I'll work as I've never worked before! It's true I haven't saved much, but thank God, I've never gone in debt. We'll move from the Bismark and find a cozy little place. There must be some somewhere that aren't too expensive. We'll make a budget and I'll cut down on lunches—"

Now was the time Cherry should have told him about the charge account and the new dresses. She might have made a clean breast of the affair, explained how she had really been trying to be economical and would be more careful in the future.

She should have said, "Dan, dear, I've made a bad start, but I'll make it up by doing my share and learning to save in the future. I do want to help you! I do want to do my part!"

Instead she turned her head away and appeared to be interested in something across the room. When she looked back all she said was, "I'll start looking for an apartment tomorrow."

They had finished dinner and returned to the hotel. The big box from Stanley's was just as it had been in the clothes closet, but Cherry did not mention it.

Court Notes

Dismissal of a charge of grand theft against Ivan L. Ellmore was granted yesterday by Superior Judge James L. Allen at the request of the district attorney's office. Dismissal was sought in furtherance of justice.

BLIND WILL BE ENTERTAINERS OF LIONS NEXT

A group of blind entertainers will be in Santa Ana next Thursday noon to appear before the Santa Ana Lions club and visitors. It was announced at the club meeting yesterday noon at Ketter's.

Next week's program will be in charge of Rev. Perry Schroock, chairman of the blind work committee of the club, and the program will be put on by members of the National Transcribers society for the Blind, with headquarters at Santa Cruz.

There will be a demonstration of the Braille system, a playlet depicting the work of the organization, and music by a trio of blind musicians, consisting of Melva Leonard, soloist, Janie McClellan, pianist, and Kathleen O'Neill, violinist.

Work with the blind has been one of the major activities of Lions clubs for several years and this program is expected to give an insight into the necessities and possibilities. It will be an unusual program and the meeting has been thrown open to wives of club members and their friends and visitors.

The new president of the club, D. G. Tidball, presided at his first meeting of the year yesterday, following his recent installation. John A. Henderson, chairman of the welfare committee, was program chairman and the speaker was Perry Schroock, a member of the committee, who talked on current problems of the day.

Leaving Tuesday, six boys from Santa Ana, representing Orange county, will journey to Fort MacArthur, San Pedro, to attend the Citizen's Military Camp, held every year at the expense of the national government.

The camp and training last one month and such camps are held all over the nation. To enroll for the training a boy must pass a strict medical examination. The applicants chosen to represent Orange County's quota are all from Santa Ana and are: Arthur W. Casey, 1907 S. Birch st.; Lynn C. Chamberlin, 210 W. Camille; William C. Clark, 619 E. Third st.; Tom E. Cole, 618 Cypress ave.; Dan M. Finch, 1312 E. Second st.; and Harry J. Appling, 905 Cypress ave.

The boys will receive training in both infantry and cavalry drill, and advanced students will also be drilled in an air defense program. All kinds of athletic games will be offered, and the camp provides entertainment for those attending.

The camp session begins June 28th and the boys have received orders to report not later than five o'clock on that date.

Besides the training offered, the government also defrays all traveling expenses, at the rate of five cents a mile, furnishes clothing, and shelter for all boys attending the camp.

Repaying Loser, Gets Probation

Joe Amonte, who last week withdrew a plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to issuing a check without sufficient funds to cover it, was granted probation for one year. Probation was granted when the complaining witness testified that the amount of the check had been repaid and friends of the accused man informed the court he had a job awaiting him.

According to Deputy District Attorney W. F. Menton, under general provisions the county is exempt from taxes under this act unless it specially includes such political subdivision. Menton pointed out that in levying of all taxes political subdivisions are exempt as to the tax because a political subdivision would merely mean the passing of it along to the taxpayer and levying a double assessment on him, one for his own tax to the government and his share of the tax assessed to help the county pay its tax.

Menton pointed out yesterday that practically the only item in county business to be effected by the new tax is the warrants issued in payment of all county bills. If the government insists on the county warrants being considered the same as checks issued by private business institutions and levies the 2-cent bank check tax the amount Orange county is called upon to pay will run into the hundreds of dollars each month.

One item already has been eliminated from the taxable list. Officials of the Southern California Telephone company have notified county officials that the federal tax will not be levied on telephone calls for official business of the county. Officials of that company said that they have constituted the law as exempting county offices.

Menton pointed out yesterday that the majority of the taxes levied in the effort to balance the federal budget this year will not be levied as taxes on the consumer as taxes, but will be paid through an increase in retail sales prices.

The majority of the new levies are levied as manufacturers' taxes and are paid by the manufacturers. They in turn pass the tax to the retailer who ultimately collects it from the consumer. The consumer, however, is merely paying a slightly higher price for the taxable goods than he paid before the government decided to let the consumer balance the budget.

Dollar Theft and Drunk-Driving Cases Are Tried

Two criminal cases were heard in the justice court yesterday morning by Judge Kenneth E. Morrison.

Ryland Lockhart, who was charged with petty theft for stealing a dollar from the cash drawer of the Firststone service station here, was given a 30-day suspended sentence by Judge Morrison when he appeared today to ask for probation. The money, allegedly stolen, had been returned.

Bryan Youngblood, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, was held to answer to the superior court by Judge Morrison when his preliminary examination was held this morning. Bail of $1000 was demanded which was not made and the defendant was committed back to the county jail to await trial.

Autoist Gives 2 Girls Lift, Misses $11 Now

Santa Ana police today were asked to assist in locating girl hitch hikers who are charged with robbing R. S. Kilmer of two wallets containing $11 in cash and valuable papers after he had given them a lift.

One of the girls was described as being blonde, about 20 years old and wearing a light colored dress. The other was said to be dark, with black hair, about the same age and wearing a dark dress.

S. A. TO SEND SIX BOYS FOR ARMY TRAINING

William Kudenoff, alleged member of a bandit trio who on March 13 broke into the Ford garage here and escaped with $260 taken from the office safe and who "beat the rap" in the court of City Recorder Frank Tausch this week, was convicted of a burglary at Pasadena by a jury in that city Thursday of this week. The conviction was for burglarizing an automobile salesroom March 27.

Convicted with Kudenoff was Alex Suseoff who with John Dobrinin, a third member of the party, were accused of the Anaheim burglary.

At the trial in Pasadena, Dobrinin accused Kudenoff and Suseoff of having planned a series of burglaries "to get even" with the United States for not recognizing the Soviet government of Russia. The three youths are members of the Pasadena Russian colony.

Dismissal of the Anaheim burglary charge against Kudenoff in Judge Tausch's court was brought about by Dobrinin's sensational refusal to testify against him in open court. A half hour before the hearing Dobrinin had sat in Chief James S. Bouldin's office and implicated the three youths in his confession of a dozen burglaries at Anaheim, Long Beach, Los Angeles and Pasadena.

When asked to testify at Kudenoff's hearing Dobrinin declared "I won't testify" and declined to take the witness oath to tell the truth. When told he need not give testimony which might incriminate himself Dobrinin took the stand where his answers to all questions were "I don't remember." His refusal to testify here was said to have been based on a fear that he would be exiled from the Pasadena Russian colony. He was held to the juvenile court on the charge against him.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for June 26.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

The quarter's lessons have taken us through the Book of Genesis—from the story of earthly beginnings and the early history of Israel to the end of the first phases of Israel's history in the going down of the people to Egypt. Though these lessons have been drawn from only one book of the Bible, they have sketched and suggested great and important matters.

In the first lesson we have had a view of creation and of the origin of sin from the standpoint of a spiritual interpretation. In this the predominant thought has been the supremacy of the spirit, of life, at the center and source of the universe; the thought of creation as a movement from chaos to order; and the thought of man as inherently a part of all that is true and good, made in the image and likeness of God.

No conception of man has been nobler than this linking of him with all that is best, and in that conception was laid the foundation for the highest religion.

In Abraham we have seen ancient ideals personified and in action, a man with the impulse of progress and with the adventure of faith moving out from his old environment into a new world of opportunity—the whole pioneer spirit of religion and life embodied in him and his achievement.

We have seen Abraham's successor, Isaac, emulating his father's ideal of peace, and Jacob coming to a higher idealism through wavering and cowardly earlier activities. The record has not all been upon the same high plane, but through it all there moves a sense of responsibility

Monday, 7:30 p. m., Evangelist Watson will speak at the Telle Sisters revival tent on West Fifth street.

The Temple of Messiah (Spiritual)—303 1-2 East Fourth street. Pastor, Rev. Ernest C. Lively. Rev. Edith C. Bellford of Los Angeles will lecture on "Light on the Path"; messages by the Rev. Mr. Pickering, Rev. Rock and Rev. Bellford. Everybody welcome. Silver offering.

Calvary Church—Ebell club-house, 625 French street. Frank E. Lindgren, pastor. Bible school, 9:30 a. m.; morning worship, 11; subject, "Be Ye Holy." What is Scriptural holiness? and an ideal, a conception of social welfare and prosperity, but along with it in the highest places of the story a regard for honesty and righteousness.

From the checked story of Jacob we come to the dramatic and tremendous portrayal of Joseph—a story unsurpassed in all literature for the art with which it has been told in its regard for high lights and effective contrasts.

We have seen the trickiness and wavering that were in Jacob breaking out afresh in some of his sons, especially in their dealing with Joseph; but we have seen evil traits refined by suffering and experience, and a man like Judah, who had failed to save his brother from seeming disaster, under the influence of this new experience willing to sacrifice himself for his brethren and for his father's comfort.

The story and the lessons for the quarter have ended in the spectacular scene of Jacob's coming down to Egypt and his reception by Pharaoh.

The teachings of the lessons as they stand out from the quarter as a whole, are bold and unmistakable. They emphasize the nature and power of faith, the necessity and reality of character in all human enterprise, and the broad truth that faithfulness and character bring their reward while sin brings results of evil and suffering that are as sure and unmistakable.

This conception was later to be modified in the history of Israel, as it was, in fact, modified in the history of Joseph.

In Joseph we see for a time the acute suffering of a man whose motives were true and pure, but we see in him what the Bible portrays in all its record of the suffering of the saints—namely, the true and ultimate triumph of right.

JOBLESS FORM ORGANIZATION IN BEACH CITY

NEWPORT BEACH, June 25.—After having threshed out ways and means for the organization of an association of unemployed people at two previous mass meetings, a group of Newport Beach citizens composed of unemployed folk and business men gathered in the city hall last night and decided that such a move could be the means of much good, and furthermore decided to put it into operation at once.

A permanent organization will not be chosen until such time as those of the unemployed can be interviewed and those chosen who can and will give of their time to the cause, a strong organization needing about 11 officials, according to T. A. Broderick, chairman of the unemployed association of Santa Ana, who had been invited to last night's meeting for advice and instruction. Several of the beach's leading business men, sitting in last night's meeting, heartily sanctioned the plan of operation of the association and pledged their support in any way that they could.

Ernest Armstrong's garage will be used as a temporary commissary, Mr. Armstrong himself taking the office of treasurer.

Holt will serve as commissary manager for the present and with the assistance of several other men and women, who were at the meeting, and offered their services, will today start the work of putting the building into shape and placing the various things that will be coming in. Mr. Armstrong has also offered the use of his telephone and anyone wanting to get in touch with the organization may call there.

It was decided that no more mass meetings will be needed, the permanent organization to be completed by personal solicitation and contact.

"Moreover the law entered, that the offense might abound. But where sin abounded, grace did much more abound."

Romans 5:20

Sin and grace are two potent powers; one is the enemy of the other. Good Friday was the day when the two powers clashed to gain supremacy; the one was to overcome the other to have rulership for itself. On Easter Day the outcome of the battle was announced. What was the outcome? Grace has the victory; Grace has supremacy. Joyfully Saint Paul proclaims to all sinners: "Moreover the law entered, that the offense might abound. But where sin abounded, grace did much more abound." This fact should fill our hearts with joy as often as this message is brought to us in the ordinances of God, in the Gospel or in the Sacraments; we are assured of that when sin abounds in us grace does much more abound.

In accordance with God's command Christians assemble themselves in the sanctuary of God to hear the wonders of the Lord. They rejoice to hear anew: "Go in peace, thy sin is forgiven." They promise to amend their sinful life by the help of the Holy Ghost. However before retiring the next evening, then there is all reason for confession and all reason to ask for pardon. What is the reason for this? Christians are certainly not given to sin, and yet they sin daily. Ah, sin has permeated the whole tree of life to the extent that not only a few leaves or twigs are cut off, but the very marrow is corrupt and an overflowing fountain of sin is opened in the depth of man's heart. In Gen. 8:21 we read: "The imaginations of man's heart is evil from his youth. In Romans 7:18: "In our flesh dwelleth no good thing" and in Ephesians 2:3: "We are by nature children of wrath."

The indwelling sin is not dormant but ever and very busy. At the close of each day we must confess that our life has been polluted by evil desires, passing through our hearts. Yes, how much ungodliness does not arise from the cesspool of sin.

What did sin bring us? Sin is not something we suffer, as a sick person suffers sickness, which entitles him to sympathy of his neighbors, but sin is our doing, sin is iniquity of man, committed by him, and directed against the Holy and Just One, bringing His wrath and displeasure, temporal death and eternal damnation.

Over against that terrible power of sin, man is powerless. No mortal can eliminate sin from his nature, nor can he undo a single sin that has been committed. No sinner, being nothing but a sinner can "by his good works" change the just judgment of God. There is no salvation in man.

Thus sin abounds even in such who try to fashion their walk according to the command of God. Now the apostle says that "grace did much more abound." The power of grace wrestled with the power of sin. This strife had its beginning in eternity. This grace made it possible that God in His holy counsel found a way of salvation for the sinner; that He gave His only Son. This grace made it possible that the Son of God became man and through His precious blood and innocent suffering and death redeemed sinners. He triumphed when in the resurrection of His Son, He declared the righteousness of life for all sinners. Now grace rules supreme.

This supremacy is exercised. Though man's sin be ever so great, grace "will cast all their sins into the depths of the sea," Micha. 7:19. "Though your sins be as scarlet or be red like crimson", grace forgives. All is removed that would keep a sinner from salvation. "Being justified freely by His grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus", Romans 4:24.

This power of grace opposes the power of sin in man. In the Gospel it gives and donates to sinners all that is necessary for salvation. The Gospel is at the same time "a power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." Romans 1:16. It gives and preserves faith through its continued testimony. These testimonies are sealed in Holy Communion, when the body and blood of Christ is given and shed for the forgiveness of sins. This power of grace gives the joyful utterance in a sinner: "I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him against that day." 2 Timothy, 1:12.

And finally this grace lays low the power of sin in sinners. "If any be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new"; 2 Corinthians 5:17. It achieves that a sinner, being in grace, will serve God "in holiness and righteousness before him, all the days of our life." When sinful flesh has been put off, believing sinners will enter into salvation to celebrate the victory of grace over sin.

Lord, remember me according to Thy grace, which Thou hast procured Thy people. Do good in Thy good pleasure unto Zion. I will sing of the mercies of the Lord forever.

PERKINS, 219, LEADS OPEN AFTER 54 HOLES Stars Trounce Whittier; Meet Ingleswood Tonight

CHAMPS FATTEN SWAT AVERAGES IN 10-1 DEBACLE

Ingleswood, latest applicant for a place in the night baseball "sun," invades Santa Ana's Bowl tonight to sell itself to an interested National League fan, meeting the champion Santa Ana Stars who finished the first half of their schedule last night with a 10-1 victory over the depressed Whittier Peas.

Little or nothing is known about Ingleswood, and even less than that about the possibilities of Saturday night baseball here. But officials of the Stars, hoping to discover the possibilities of Ingleswood and having no other evening open on account of City League affairs, are willing to try anything once.

Ingleswood comes recommended as the strongest club in its vicinity. It will apply for a National League franchise next season. It is understood.

Cornelius to Pitch
George Lackey, Santa Ana manager, will employ his regular lineup against the visitors, with Joe Cornelius on the slab.

Ira DeBuck, working his second game of the week, tried hard Whittier with neatness and dispatch last night before a handful of paid customers at the Whittier park. The young blond wasn't quite as "silly" with his hits as against Anaheim Tuesday, but was never in the slightest trouble and his decision never in danger after Catcher "Eeny" Wilcox drove a long home run over Left Fielders Coats in the second inning.

Lloyd ("Bud") Johnson, dean of night ball pitchers, took an un-

Perry Beats Allison At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 25. (UP)—While three American net stars were slashing their way into the quarter-finals of the annual Wimbledon tennis tournament today, Jean Borotra went down to a surprising defeat at the hands of Enrique Maier, Spanish Davis Cup player.

Sidney Wood of California, defending Wimbledon singles champion, eliminated Gregory Mangin of Newark, N. J., in straight sets, while his colleague, Wilmer Allison, one of the American team's strongest players, lost to Fred Perry, giant Englishman, in a four-set match. Frank Shields, the New York star, eliminated Roderick Menzel, Czechoslovakian Davis Cup player.

Borotra's defeat was the surprise. Most sports observers had credited him with an easy victory over Maier, but the Spaniard frustrated the Basque's strong net game with a series of brilliant passing shots.

Last Night's Results

Westminster 6, Olive 1.
Anaheim 7, Huntington Beach 4.
Long Beach 11, Torrance 5.

Tuesday's Schedule

Torrance at Santa Ana; Anaheim at Westminster; Long Beach at Huntington Beach; Whittier at Olive.

Westminster and Anaheim finished the first half of the National Night League's split schedule tied for second place—four games behind the champion Santa Ana club.

Both runners-up were victorious last night.

Westminster knocked the great Rudy Heman out of the box in the eighth inning to defeat Olive, 6 to 3, and Anaheim shelled Howard Morning for 13 hits to stop Huntington Beach, 7 to 4.

Earl Morrill, star Westminster pitcher, had only one bad inning against Olive. It was the third when Shell, Bushman and Sheldon all hunted safely to load the bases. Thierly hurried too, and was safe when Morrill's throw home for Shell was too late. Hatfield's single then scored Bushman, and Heman's ball trotted Sheldon. After that Morrill was virtually unhittable.

Trailing 3-0, the Flyers started "beating back" in the fourth when Ed Starkey clouted a home run. Starkey walked in the seventh and scored on Sauer's single. Wilcox's fielder's choice, and Coy Beece's single.

Heman was driven to the showers in the eighth which Hosack started with a single.

SCHMELING TO SAIL FOR HOME TUESDAY

NEW YORK, June 25.—(UP)—Max Schmeling, who lost the heavyweight title to Jack Sharkey Tuesday night, was to sail for Germany tonight aboard the liner Columbus for a vacation, accompanied by his trainer, Max Machon.

Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, suspended indefinitely by the New York state athletic commission, plans to sail next week. The commission announced it had suspended Jacobs as manager and second because his charges that Schmeling had been "robbed" of his title were detrimental to boxing in the state.

Mawson-Salas and Hancock Oilers meet at Eddie Martin's Airport, and Fullerton faces Richfield in first-round games slated for 2:30 p. m.

Roland Shepherd will hurl for the Oilers; Melvin Beatty is expected behind the plate, infield positions will be filled by "Bono" and Joe Koral, Blanchard Beatty and Prather, Fredericks, Lindsay, Johnston and Erwin will be available for outfield duty. Wilcott probably will pitch for Mawson-Salas.

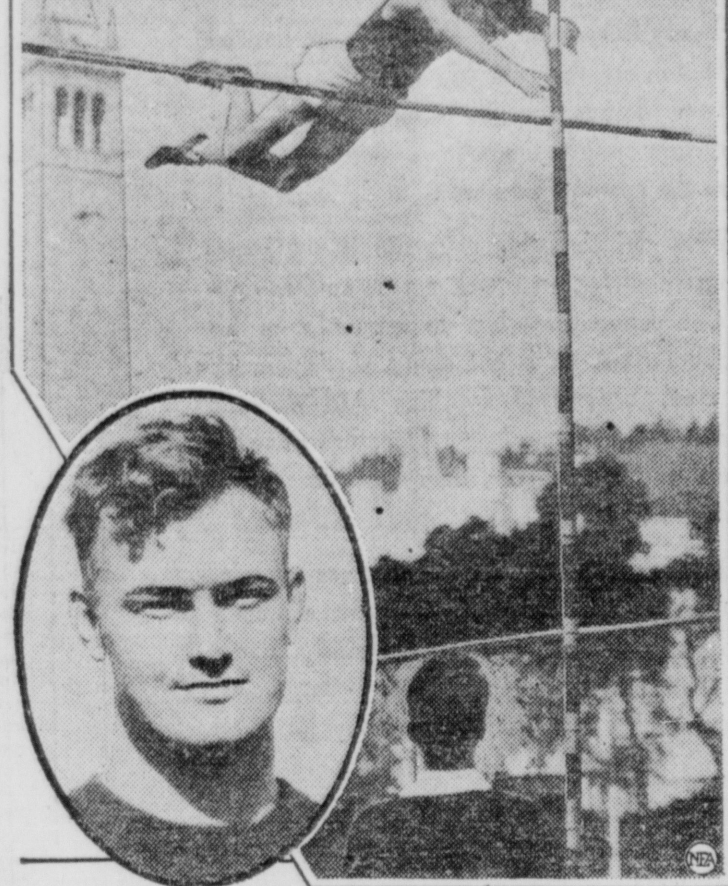

Saving the necessity of a bye, another team, the Anaheim Indians, has withdrawn along with the Chevrolet, which leaves but four teams in the running. A 2-out-of-3 series for the 1932 title will be conducted after the second half.

OLYMPIC HOPES

by CLARE BURCKY

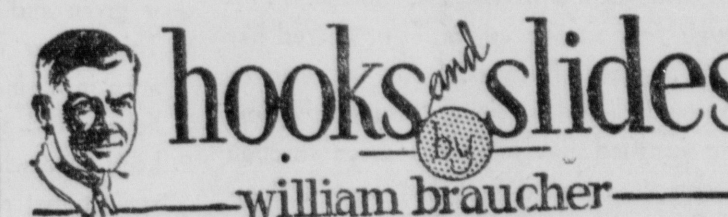

GEORGE POOL

If young Bob Kiesel doesn't choose to run, responsibility of carrying University of California's colors in the 1932 Olympic games will fall upon Captain George Pool.

He's a pole vaulter, one of the best in Bear history. The fact that the California captain has been erratic in his performances is the reason that he has not become nationally recognized. It has been Pool's custom to be unbeatable on some days and at other times an easy conquest for opponents who can't clear 13 feet 6 inches.

Pool reached a height of 13 feet 9 inches for his best performance in 1931. He was unable to do as well in the intercollegiate meet at Philadelphia, his best being 13 feet 4 inches, but this gave him a tie with four others for third honors.

The Bear leader took too much time rounding into form this year and went unplaced in the California-Southern California dual meet April 13.

Marty McManus, second baseman of the Boston Red Sox, wearing a woolen look. The day before he had come charging in for a slow roller and had sprained his ankle.

He limped a few steps to shake hands. His legs were scarred from knee to ankle with many spike wounds. Twelve years in the majors is a long time to be standing in front of sliding runners.

"Yeah," he replied to a question, "you're bound to get scratched up once in a while. I can look at my legs and read the score of stolen bases against Boston, not to mention close forecords and two-base hits where the runner has to hit the floor at second."

OF VARIOUS VINTAGES

"Some of these marks are old ones, dating back to when I was with the Browns. Some of 'em I got wearing a Detroit uniform. A couple of 'em are strictly fresh 1932 stock. If you know anybody who wants to buy some scars send him around. I'll let you have a dozen cheap."

Marty limped away in search of tape. He wasn't going to take the day off even for a twisted ankle.

"I think I can get around on it, all right," he said with a grin.

THE SICK MAN

The reporter was waiting for John "Shanno" Collins, manager of the sorely, beat tail-end Red Sox. It developed that John had been sorely beset himself, suffering from nausea.

Of course, nausea might be little enough to expect for a man managing a ball team that seemed hopelessly sunk in the depths of the cellar. But John's illness was not only mental but physical. He explained it himself when he came in. "Road meals—it was something I eat."

In view of John's unhappy condition, it was decided to cut the

ANAHEIM HUMBLE LOCAL LEGION, 8 TO 4

BY PAUL WRIGHT

Fans who witnessed the Santa Ana-Anaheim American Legion baseball game at the Bowl were convinced that with a few animals, the two Legion posts could outclass any good three-ring circus.

Out of the six innings of first-class comedy last night came an 8 to 4 victory for Anaheim.

The visitors played errorless ball, clowned along with the rest, and bunched 11 hits to score three runs in the second and five in the fifth.

Bill Cole, Tusta Hi coach, pushed across Santa Ana's first run in the fourth inning. He walked, stole second and third, and came home when Anaheim's third baseman missed a wild throw to the base.

Elliot Baffles Locals

Joe Elliott, hurling the entire game for Anaheim, struck out 8 men, allowed but 4 hits. Horace Snow started on the mound for Santa Ana, switched positions with Catcher Cole in the second inning, returned to the box in the third, and then was relieved by William Penn, who later gave way to Frank Hansbarger.

The big crowd was kept in a continual uproar by Franklin G. West, announcer, who made hilarious comments throughout the game. He found plenty to talk about in the second frame when Osborn and Caffo, first two men to the plate, knocked home-run into centerfield. Ec ("Goose Goslin") Lacy, fielder, was in reach of both drives, but allowed them to slip through his gloves and hit the left-center embankment.

Santa Ana was inclined to error, and Anaheim's hard-hitting

Investigate Wagering At Canine Track

LOS ANGELES, June 25.—(UP)—Dog racing in Southern California, inaugurated less than a week ago, had reached its highest hurdle today as operators of Culver City's new $150,000 canine coursing track faced prosecution by the district attorney's office.

Evidence that the gambling statutes had been violated, is in the hands of District Attorney Buron Fitts, he announced.

Members of various Los Angeles religious groups and civic organizations protested the dog track on the ground that it was strictly a gambling venture.

Betting at the track is under the option system. Bettors buy "favorites" or "odds" on their favorite dogs, which are repurchased by the hound's owner if it wins or places.

Track operators declare supreme court decisions have declared the option form of betting legal in California.

KIDDER LEADS CITY BATSMEN IN FIRST HALF

Allen ("Red") Kidder, infielder for the J. C. Penneys, finished the first half as the Santa Ana City League's leading batsman.

The flaming-haired high school boy, officially going to the plate 20 times, collected 11 hits for an average of .550.

John Lutz, lanky first baseman for the First National bank, closed a warm second. He batted 342, with 13 blows in 24 times up.

His cousin, Lawrence Lutz, former Saint football ace, had an average of .529. "Bono" Koral with .516, Emmett Seacord with .482, Frank Labrucherie with .474 and Ray Smith with .454 were the other leaders.

DIEGEL, JURADO TIED WITH 220 FOR 2ND PLACE

FRESH MEADOW COUNTRY CLUB, Flushing, N. Y., June 25.—(UP)—T. Phillip Perkins, former British amateur champion, scored a 74 in the third round of the U. S. Open golf tournament today to lead the field with an aggregate score of 219.

Jose Jurado of Argentina, who was tied with Perkins for the lead with aggregates of 145 when the second rounds were completed yesterday scored a 75 today to aggregate 220.

Leo Diegel, of Agua Caliente, Mexico, scored a 73 for an aggregate of 220 to tie with Jurado for second honors in the third round.

HERE ARE LEADERS

FLUSHING, N. Y., June 25.—(UP)—Here were the 10 leaders with third round of the U. S. Open golf championship complete:

Phil Perkins, 219.
Jose Jurado, 220.
Leo Diegel, 220.
Gene Sarazen, 221.
Olin Dutra, 221.
Bobby Cruickshank, 221.
"Wiffy" Cox, 223.
Harry Cooper, 223.
Ed Dudley, 225.
Paul Runyan, 225.

Perkins scored a par on the 18th for a total of 74 and an aggregate of 219, to give him temporary leadership.

Olin Dutra, giant Californian who spread eagled the field with a first round 69, started out one stroke back of Perkins and Jurado today, and scored a 75, to remain in fourth place with 220.

Meantime some of the players who were a few strokes back of the tops, were carding glorious rounds. Predictions were made that the championship would not be decided until near eventide, and the possibility that the regulation 72-hole test would result in a deadlock implied.

"Wiffy" Cox of Brooklyn equalled par 70 in his third round, and had an aggregate of 223, four strokes from the lead. He threw away a putter for the third time this week, after three putting the third. The putter worked like a charm for he went on to play 10 holes in 33.

Cox was hitting all of his shots well, making grand approaches. Billy Burke, defending champion, had 35-36-74 today to be seven strokes out of the lead with 226. He was tied with Charley Guest of Deal, N. J., who scored 72 in the third round.

JOHNNY RISCO WINS FROM MICK WALKER

CLEVELAND, June 25.—(UP)—Johnny Risko, a trial horse of the ring considered virtually "washed up," provided a major boxing upset here last night when he gave the mighty Mickey Walker a 12-round beating before 20,000 howling fans.

Risko took six rounds to gain the decision, while Walker barely gained four. Two were even.

Shirley, who had held Jack Sharkey in the second round, was floored in the second round by a hard right hook to his jaw. He jumped up without a count but was slightly groggy.

Lee Ramage Stops Poloni At Legion

HOLLYWOOD, June 25.—(UP)—Lee Ramage, San Diego heavyweight, again proved his worth as a promising champion, with a five round technical knockout of Tony Poloni, state light heavyweight king, here last night.

MOUNT WILSON TRIP ENJOYED BY Y. MEMBERS

ORANGE, June 25.—A group of Y. M. C. A. boys enjoyed an interesting trip to Mount Wilson yesterday, being accompanied by W. H. Lowry, Nathan Robbins, J. B. Wilbur and B. D. Stanley. The trip was made by motor and during the afternoon a visit was made to the museum and the 100-inch telescope, largest in the world, was inspected. A pleasant feature of the afternoon's program was a visit to the deer park where there are at the present time, nine young fawn. Before dinner the group of boys enjoyed a swim in the pool on the mountain. The evening lecture given by Dr. Hickox was attended and the visitors were given a glimpse of a star cluster, the light from which, they were told, had taken 30,000 years to reach the earth. After the lecture the boys viewed the lights of the cities below from Signal point. Those in the group included William Snodgrass, George Curtis, Samuel McElfresh, Thomas Flippin, Jack Gail, Robert Waller, Willard Wright, Paul Clark Jr., Ray Ellis, Richard Stanley, Leo Robbins, Lloyd Robbins, Morris Singer and Dick Liming.

Climate and Soil Mean Nothing To Amayllis Bulb

SILVERADO, June 25.—A red amayllis bulb that has been planted and been taken up each year for 50 consecutive years by Mrs. Julia Sipes, is producing its blossoms again this summer. Mrs. Sipes and her sister purchased the bulb in 1882 and planted it in their Indiana garden. In the fall it was taken up, bulbets removed and given to friends and its winter sleep begun. Though the family moved from Indiana to Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and 15 years ago to California, the amayllis accepted the change of soil and climate without being in the least disturbed and each year sent up its spikes of gorgeous scarlet. Mrs. George Hutchinson, of Silverado, received one of the now famous bulbets this year.

Placentia Pastor Talks At Willing Workers' Session

ORANGE, June 25.—Willing Workers were entertained yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Etta Huffman on Lincoln street, Orange, with Mrs. Freda Porter as co-hostess. The Rev. Charles Fuller, of Placentia, was the speaker of the afternoon, talking on the book of Job. In concluding the affair, the hostesses served refreshments of ice cream, cake and orange, using individual trays for serving. The group made plans for a picnic next Friday noon at Bixby park in Long Beach. Those present were Mesdames Mercy Van Buren, Sarah Gorr, Mabel Elliott, Florence Merriman, Lucy Robinson, Gladys McDonald, Mary Burnett, Sophia Lusk, Blanche Campbell, Rozalia Smith, Freda Porter, Leland Hall, Ray de Grote, Harold Grove, Lula Hall, Eva Miller, Stone, Effie Rogers, Truitt, Dollard and Mrs. Huffman.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, June 25.—Robert West, of Sacramento, is spending the summer with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meier, of this city.

The Mother's club of the American Legion will have an all-day meeting Monday in the clubhouse, with a covered dish luncheon at noon. The American Legion auxiliary will not meet in the afternoon in accordance with its regular schedule, but will meet in the evening at 7:30 o'clock. A special program is planned for this time.

Several members of the Orange Christian church are planning to be in Anaheim park Thursday evening, when the Orange county Christian church picnic will be held. A picnic dinner will be served at 6 o'clock and a program will follow. The choir of the local church, under the direction of Mrs. Leon Des Larzes, will give several numbers.

Mexican children of the city, together with their mothers, are to have an enjoyable outing Monday, when they will be taken to Newport Beach as guests of women of the First Presbyterian church. The latter group is providing transportation for large number of the guests.

'MERRILY WE GO TO HELL' BROADWAY FILM

Double Bill Opens At Fox West Coast Tomorrow

WALKER STATE SHOWS BROWN'S COMEDY SUNDAY

Joe E. Brown's starring vehicle, "Fireman, Save My Child," variously described by New York critics as a "laugh riot," "frolic of fun," etc., opens Sunday at Walker's State theater.

Brown appears as assistant fire chief and local baseball hero in "Fireman, Save My Child." In order to secure enough money to finance a fire extinguisher which he has invented, Brown, as "Smoky Joe" Grant, accepts an offer to pitch in the major league for the St. Louis Cardinals. His adventures in the city do not, however, prevent him from forgetting all about the baseball game at a crucial moment when he hears the sirens of the fire trucks. As the baseball player and lover whose prime affection is for fires and fire equipment, Brown is furnished his greatest comedy opportunity. That he is at home on the baseball diamond is evident in the game sequences. Brown once played professional baseball, first in the St. Paul league and later with the New York Yankees.

"IS MY FACE RED?" LOVERS

Blond Helen Twelvetrees and dark Ricardo Cortez are lovers in "Is My Face Red?" a picture about a big time columnist which begins a three-day engagement at the Fox West Coast Sunday. The bill includes vaudeville Sunday.

feminine background for Brown's humorous antics. The large cast also includes a score of major and minor league baseball players, among them Jim Crandall, Ernie Orsatti and Mike Donlin, one time slugging king for the New York Giants. Non-athletic members of the cast include Guy Kibbee, Richard Carle, Walter Moore, George Meeker and many others.

BOOK 5 STAGE ACTS AND 'IS MY FACE RED?'

Another double-header feature picture and five acts of vaudeville—is on the Fox West Coast theater's program for Sunday.

The film, "Is My Face Red?" will be here three days but the stage numbers are booked to play at the Main street showhouse only the one day, beginning at 2:36 in the afternoon and 6:53 and 9:14 at night.

Ricardo Cortez, Helen Twelvetrees, Jill Esmond, Robert Armstrong and Arline Judge are the principal players in "Is My Face Red?" a story about a newspaper columnist.

Sunday's vaudeville lineup follows: Anderson and Allen, a couple of acrobatic men; Duke Art, novelty play models; Chamberlin and Hines, dancing comedians; Jerry Ross and company, "patter," and The Farmerettes, four women who harmonize instrumentally.

In addition to the feature picture, news and comedy, "Spot on the Rug," will be shown on the West Coast screen.

"Is My Face Red?" bares the soul and the activities of a high-pressure columnist—a wreck of happiness, a rollicking imp of Satan, who slings his darts at high and low, irrespective of feelings, blasted happiness and ruined reputations.

Tearing the veil from the mysterious origin of intensely personal gossip, the film accompanies the columnist on excursions into dives and speakeasies. It accompanies him backstage in Broadway show places and into the homes of the socially elite. It pictures him at work in his office and traces the innumerable tips which pour in on him.

With its startling revelations, it tells an absorbing story in which tangled loves and bitter hatreds play their parts, and how the cavalier penman is at last triply cornered.

Fox and Ferris provide a surprise number that is favorably received. Warren and Inman are really quite clever entertainers. Fronzi and Nelita contribute a sparkling novelty, "Romantic California," and Rena and Rathburn round out the bill with some good dance and song numbers.

In "The Dark Horse" Warren William gives a stirring portrayal of a high powered man of action that even surpasses his great work in "The Mouthpiece." The character he portrays is likeable, that of a reckless, devil-may-care personage, who inspires men through his magnetic personality.

The story concerns the "Maker of Governors" (William) whose personal magnetism sweeps everything before him, except in his own domestic and financial difficulties. The particular angle of this story deals with his electing as governor a candidate who is an absolute dunce. His domestic difficulties are tangled up between a beautiful secretary he loves and a gold digging ex-wife.

The treatment is light and airy and somewhat satirical entertainment with no inclination toward moralizing.

The cast includes Bette Davis and Guy Kibbee.

SYLVIA SIDNEY AND MARCH IN MARITAL PLAY

An unusual picture with an unusual title, "Merrily We Go to Hell," begins a five-day engagement at the Fox Broadway theater Sunday.

Fredric March and Sylvia Sidney, both extremely popular with Santa Ana theatergoers, carry the leading roles, assisted by Adrienne Allen, "Skeets" Gallagher, Florence Britton and Esther Howard.

Short subjects for the duration of the "Merrily We Go to Hell" run include news, a Charley Chase comedy, "First in War," and a single reel showing the opening at Grauman's Chinese theater of "Grand Hotel," the celebrated film which Manager Lew Newcomb of the Broadway has booked for July 20-21.

"Merrily We Go to Hell," the story of a newspaperman and columnist, was taken from Cleo Lucas' well known novel, "I, Jerry, Take Thee, Joan." It dramatizes the story of married life in America's modern young group of irresponsibles. The novel became one of the best sellers of the past year, and the picture closely follows the dramatic episodes of the original story.

Dorothy Arzner, Hollywood's only woman director, has again demonstrated her extraordinary directorial capacity in the production of the picture.

The production marks the first combination of Miss Sidney and March at the head of a cast. Both former stage players, have also been identified on the screen with highly interesting parts, Miss Sidney in "An American Tragedy," "Ladies of the Big House," "The Miracle Man" and others, and March in "Laughter," "Strangers in Love," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" and "The Royal Family."

Redmen to Meet In Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE, June 25.—Redmen's lodge, Kiowa tribe No. 252, and Pocahontas lodge, Wah Conda council No. 202, composed mostly of members from Garden Grove, decided at their recent meeting to meet in the Garden Grove American Legion hall in place of the Getty building in Santa Ana where they have been meeting for the past two years.

Officers of the Redmen's lodge are: William Hess, sachem; Lester Hanby, senior sagamore; Rodney Collins, junior sagamore; Caleb Lewis, prophet.

The will meet the first and second of the month. Officers of the Pocahontas lodge are: Nellie Dundson, Pocahontas; Bertha Thorpe, prophetess; Mildred McMennavey, Wenonah; Nate Dundson, Powhatan. Their meetings will be held the second and fourth Tuesday evenings of each month at 8 o'clock.

It's love all right! Sylvia Sidney and Fredric March as they co-star in "Merrily We Go to Hell," opening at the Fox Broadway Sunday. Manager Lew Newcomb bills this as a "fine picture with a strange title."

AVERAGE SALARY FOR 17,000 EXTRAS OF HOLLYWOOD FILM FRATERNITY IS $9 PER WEEK

BY DAN THOMAS (NEA Service Writer)

HOLLYWOOD, June 25.—So much has been said recently about high salaries and wage slashing in the movies, it seems only fair now to take a peek at a group which never has earned enough money to have its salaries cut—the extras—17,000 of them.

By far the largest individual group in the film industry, these extras always have presented a mystery to Hollywood. How do they live? For years I have heard that question asked. But never yet has anyone been found who could answer it.

Even the extras themselves don't know. They just seem to struggle along somehow, existing for days at a time on nothing but toast and coffee—without cream.

There was a time when the extra ranks were open to all comers. A boy or girl landed in town, started making the rounds of studio casting offices, and that was all there was to it.

He or she got jobs—sometimes. That's the way a large percentage of our stars of the old silent days broke into the movie game, Clara Bow, Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, Gloria Swanson, Norma Shearer, Richard Arlen, George O'Brien and a great many others all started that way.

But the extra ranks soon swelled to unmanageable proportions.

Casting directors became so overwhelmed with jobseekers that they had time for nothing else. So the Central Casting Bureau was organized. Through this bureau supported by all major studios, came the calls for all extras with no charge to them for the service.

Each night they simply phoned Central Casting and gave their orders for the number and type of extras which would be required the following day. Central Casting told the rest—called the extras, told them when and where to report and tried to equalize the amount of work given to each, so that one wouldn't receive six days work while another got no work at all.

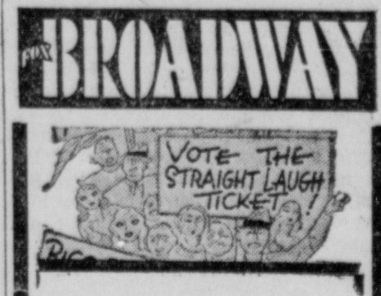

Almost simultaneously with the coming of the talkies conditions changed. The number of registered extras had increased rapidly and because of the difficulties encountered in handling the early sound equipment very few pictures were made which required the services of a large number of people.

That meant that the number of extras registered far exceeded any possible demand for them. So the bureau doors were closed to all new applicants—except a scattered few exceptionally talented ones who were recommended by various casting directors.

Today 17,541 extras are registered at Central Casting, an increase of only 200 over last year. And for all this mob there was an average of only 606 jobs per day.

The same standard wage for extras, ranging from $5 to $10 per day, has been maintained, despite salary cutting in practically all other branches of the industry. Even so, the average wage earned by the extras was only about $8 a week.

HILARITY IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER!

Take a trip around the "cockeyed world" of politics in this rip-roaring, side-splitting story of a candidate who was too dumb to be crooked and his manager who was too smart to be honest!

'DARK HORSE' VAUDEVILLE TO CLOSE TONIGHT

This will be the last night of the Fox Broadway theater's "Dark Horse"—vaudeville "twin bill," the special program closing to make way for "Merrily We Go to Hell," opening Sunday.

Chief Eagle Feather and company, talented American Indian tap dancers, headline a vaudeville program of five acts that is considerably above the average.

Fox and Ferris provide a surprise number that is favorably received. Warren and Inman are really quite clever entertainers. Fronzi and Nelita contribute a sparkling novelty, "Romantic California," and Rena and Rathburn round out the bill with some good dance and song numbers.

In "The Dark Horse" Warren William gives a stirring portrayal of a high powered man of action that even surpasses his great work in "The Mouthpiece." The character he portrays is likeable, that of a reckless, devil-may-care personage, who inspires men through his magnetic personality.

The story concerns the "Maker of Governors" (William) whose personal magnetism sweeps everything before him, except in his own domestic and financial difficulties. BANKHEAD FILM FINISHES RUN AT WEST COAST

"Temperament is the most misused word in Hollywood," said Director Richard Wallace of Paramount studios recently, when discussion on that subject was waxing warm.

Wallace directed "Thunder Below," a thrilling play of the tropics, which closes at the Fox West Coast theater tonight.

"When Paramount notified me that I was to direct Tallulah Bankhead in 'Thunder Below,' I was told I would have my hands full. And when Charles Bickford and Paul Lukas were signed to play opposite her, there was much head-shaking."

Dinner Commemorates Tenth Anniversary Of Marriage

The same petted wedding bell which hung over the bride and groom of which Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Macurda were the principals ten years ago, swung over the dinner table last night at which Mr. and Mrs. Macurda entertained a dozen of their friends on the occasion of their tenth wedding anniversary. The affair had its setting in the Macurda home at 522 East Myrtle street.

Dinner table appointments were in definite keeping with the occasion, placecards of bride and groom design and a centerpiece of white flowers with greenery achieving an effect which held the admiration of guests. The wedding motif was reiterated in the dessert course, which took the form of an ice cream cake designed to represent a bride and groom.

A pleasant musical interval succeeded the dinner when Mr. Macurda, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Macurda, and Mrs. John Farguhar of North Hollywood, a singer of note, graciously complied with several solos.

Participating in the happy occasion were the host's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Macurda of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Eames of North Hollywood, parents of Mrs. Macurda; Mr. and Mrs. John Farguhar of North Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wyher of Beverly Hills and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Geraghty of Glendale.

White Shrine

Anniversary night was celebrated at the meeting of Damascus White Shrine held last night in Masonic temple. An enjoyable party followed the business session and other events of the evening.

With Mrs. Lillian Vinson, worthy high priestess and James Tarpley, watchman of shepherds, presiding, Mrs. Vinson carried a lovely bouquet of pink and white sweet peas, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Tarpley.

Several supreme officers and visitors from Hollywood, Long Beach, Whittier and El Centro were present, including Mrs. Lilly Craft of Long Beach, deputy supreme high priestess. During the meeting, P. N. Chapin was initiated as a new member.

At the close of shrine, the patrol team put on a drill under the direction of the drill mistress, Mrs. May Glaze and Mrs. Florence Evans. The team are to go to Hollywood July 15 to put on a drill with other teams of Southern California.

One of the surprise events of the evening was the presentation by Mrs. Fannie Reeves, on behalf of Masonic temple furnishing committee, of a beautiful plaque won by White Shrine team during the furnishing campaign. Mrs. Della Maude Ryan was captain of the winning team.

The group then was invited to the large banquet room, which was prettily lighted with many tall candles. Long tables arranged to form a cross, were decorated with baskets of flowers in yellow and white, the Shrine colors. Seated at the center table were charter members of the organization, honored guests of the evening.

Refreshments of ice-cream and cake were served by a committee including Mrs. Eric Anderson, chairman, Miss Rutherford, Mrs. Bonnell, Mrs. Agnes Lindig, Mrs. B. E. Dawson, Mrs. Thomas Brooks and Messrs. Hugh Henry, Fred Pope and W. G. Lewis. Mrs. W. O. Patterson was general chairman of the affair.

Church Patio Chosen As Friendship Tea Setting

Between the cool gray walls of the patio of the First Presbyterian church of Orange was presented this week, one of the loveliest of a series of Friendship teas and the last affair of the sort for the year by the women of the church who several years ago formed a Friendship chain for the purpose of bringing about a closer social relationship. The teas will be resumed again in September. The landings and steps of the church building were covered with grass rugs and baskets of flowers furthered a garden motif.

The theme of the year for the group has been the Follies of Fashion and on this week's occasion, a review of the various periods of American fashions was given. Mrs. B. D. Stanley and Mrs. Clyde Watson were in charge of the fashion show. Mrs. C. W. Coffey, representing the first period of American fashion, presented Miss Wilma Huscraft as an Indian maid. Mrs. Dora Campbell was the chairman of the period of 1620 and Mrs. Charlie Caster was a charming Puritan matron in soft grey gown and white lace fichu.

Mrs. Otto Ristow had charge of the 1775 period and little Barbara McClintock was dressed as a Colonial maiden. Mrs. W. A. Settle had charge of the 1815, or empire period, and Mrs. W. C. Ableman modeled a gown of the style favored by the Empress Josephine.

Mrs. E. H. Smith represented the Civil war period and wore a gown of 1863 which was once worn by Mrs. Winnie Johnson. Mrs. A. H. Tyrell represented the World war period and was very charming in the costume of a Red Cross nurse. Mrs. William Knuth modeled the short skirt and fashions of today were modeled by Mrs. Orlo Hobbs.

As a part of the fashion show a group of lovely young girls and matrons showed fashions of 1932 in a colorful present. Models were Miss Mildred Watson in an evening frock of green with silver slippers; Mrs. V. E. Schildmeier in beach pajamas; Mrs. Ralph Watson in a white satin evening gown and scarlet velvet cloak; Miss Doris Flippin in a smart outfit; Mrs. D. E. Strain, afternoon frock; Miss Shirley Haines in a dainty chiffon; Miss Lois Clement in a white and yellow sports outfit; Miss Campbell in a red and white sports frock; Miss Beryl Campbell in a smart blue silk afternoon frock. Music was furnished by Miss Charlotte Hollister.

The tea table was set in a nook in the patio and was centered with blue corn flowers and baskets of daisies. The vine covered lattice covered with red trumpet flowers, furnished a beautiful background. Mrs. Orlo Hobbs was chairman of the day.

Mothers' Club Outlines Reorganization Plan; Officers Elected

Changes affecting the nature of the club and its name, as well as the officer group for the coming year were involved in business considerations laid before members of the Mothers' club of the First Congregational church this week when that organization held its final meeting this term in the home of Mrs. I. W. MacFarlane, 617 East Walnut street.

Because the club's present name has restricted its membership, members voted to change the name to the Lucy Schrock auxiliary, in compliment to Mrs. Perry F. Schrock, wife of the pastor of the church, and in recognition of her valuable assistance during the society's existence.

Changes made regarding the club's work and plans were regarded as sufficiently radical to warrant the appointment of a committee to evolve a new constitution, its report to be heard at the first fall meeting. Mrs. I. W. MacFarlane, Mrs. B. E. Jones and Mrs. Herbert Thwaite comprise this committee. The program for next winter also will be outlined at this meeting.

Mrs. Mayme K. Mies was chosen president to succeed Mrs. J. P. Wallace, while other executives elected by unanimous ballot were Mesdames Ralph Barker, vice president; James Dixon, secretary; Elsie Spruance, treasurer; and P. F. Schrock and I. W. MacFarlane, honorary vice presidents.

In token of appreciation for her work in the club's behalf, Mrs. J. P. Wallace, outgoing president, was given a handsome fern stand and holding two potted ferns, the presentation being made by Mrs. I. W. MacFarlane, who made a graceful speech in tendering the gift.

An interesting history of the activities of the Mothers' club was offered by the historian, Mrs. E. E. Branch. The business meeting followed an enjoyable surprise luncheon, the several members having brought lunches in bags which were numbered and exchanged. Coffee, iced punch and a dessert course completed the menu, in the serving of which Mrs. MacFarlane had the assistance of Mrs. Sarah Shane.

A studio recital by pupils of Miss Arline Birchard, is an anticipated event for Monday night.

Magnolia Circle Meets For Picnic Dinner In Ranch Home

Magnolia circle members shared a happy outing this week, when they were entertained by Mrs. Alva Yarbrough in her home on Irvine ranch. Guests arrived to find long tables arranged beneath the trees for serving dinner picnic style shortly after the noon hour. There were 24 diners to enjoy the menu served by Mrs. Yarbrough with the assistance of Mrs. Pearl Laub, Miss Trena Johnson and Mrs. Leonora Farmer.

Following the dinner hour chairs were grouped under the trees and the business session was held out of doors. Mrs. Fredricka Miller presided in the absence of Mrs. Stella Miller, circle president. Mrs. Bronson assumed secretarial duties for Mrs. Sweet, who is touring northern California. Among details discussed was the July meeting which was cancelled as a business session, and instead will be a picnic at Irvine park on Thursday evening, July 21, for circle members and their families. Supper will be at 6:30 o'clock with dancing to follow. The next regular meeting will be in September.

Other business matters included the writing of a letter of appreciation to Mrs. Christiana Hamill, state deputy, for the poem which she sent for the circle to adopt as the club verse. Mrs. Annie Arnold donated a quilt to be given to some needy family in the name of Magnolia circle. Affair were Mrs. Leonora Fletcher, honorary member, and Mrs. Eula Deemer, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Breeding, Mrs. Elva Crawford, Mrs. Lottie Bacon, Mrs. Marie Trusty, Mrs. Underwood, Mrs. Bronson and granddaughter Marlene, Mrs. Mary Schlusman, Mrs. Marguerite Crawford, Mrs. Leonora Farmer, Mrs. Agnes Watson, Mrs. Fredricka Miller, Mrs. Rose Parks, Mrs. Violet Lawrence and son Richard, Mrs. Alma Knowlton, Mrs. Laura Dunlap, Mrs. Luella Stewart, Mrs. Celia Cook, Mrs. Mary Stovall, Mrs. Grace Gross, Mrs. Nettie Smith, Mrs. Anna Nelson, Mrs. Hannah Anderson, Lucille Knowlton, Mrs. Pearl Laub and daughter Ladine, Santa Ana; Mrs. Herr, San Francisco; Mrs. Mary More and Mrs. Lois Kimble, Gardena Grove; Mrs. Marjanna Johnson, Mrs. Trena Johnson, Mrs. Laura Winifred Sopha, Buena Park, and the hostess Mrs. Alva Yarbrough and daughter Wilma.

Store Force Joins in Beach Pleasures at Corona Del Mar

With all members of the sales and office force of the Alpha Beta store on West Fourth street, joining with their families in picnic plans, a beach party held by the group on Thursday night attracted over 60 members to the sands at Corona del Mar. Soon after arrival at the chosen place, members of the party joined with enthusiasm in a game of ball which in turn yielded interest to other seaside and sand sports, with swimming in the lead for popularity among all members of the merry group.

The varied program of games, contests and swimming events seemed to sharpen appetites for the picnic supper which was enjoyed around the blazing fire where waltzers were toasted, and when everyone was ready to turn to sweets, marshmallows were produced to be toasted to a delicate brown.

It was during this pleasant interval that readings and songs by Jo. Grimschaw were enjoyed as a finale to the outing plans which were in the capable hands of Miss Louise McGowan.

Telephone Club Rooms Form Setting for Card Party

Nasturtiums and gladioluses in sunny tones of orange were used in profusion about the club rooms of the Santa Ana Telephone office Wednesday evening, when all of the employees and their friends were entertained at cards. ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

Program for the Next Dull Day

Do you know what I think would be a perfectly swell, elegant way to spend the next rainy, or otherwise quiet day? Making batches of cookies you could put away for hot weather desserts.

Who wants to make pies, cakes and puddings in a steaming hot kitchen? Not this lady. With a hidden cache of cookies and plenty of fresh fruit I could face a world of hot summer months and enjoy 'em. I tried one of Therese's favorites last night, as well as her Pineapple Mistake Cookies, and liked her Nut Macaroons so well she gave me permission to publish the recipe. She says they are good after they've been in a covered jar for two weeks, and the longer they are kept the better they are.

NUT MACAROONS

1/2 cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup finely chopped raisins
1 cup chopped walnuts
1/4 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon each of nutmeg, ground cloves, cinnamon, ginger and cassia

Cream butter and sugar, add the eggs and beat, then the nuts and ground raisins. Measure and sift the flour, to it add the soda and spices and sift twice again. Work flour into creamed mixture, drop by tiny spoonfuls onto a buttered baking sheet and bake in a very moderate oven (300 degrees F.) about 10 minutes to the panful.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Hamburg Cream

6 egg yolks
6 egg whites
6 tablespoons sugar
5 tablespoons lemon juice
Few grains of salt
I love this dessert because it can be made hours ahead of time and still come to the table with a smile on its face, all tidy and nice.

Put the egg yolks into the top of the double boiler with the sugar and lemon juice and whip to a froth, then set the vessel over hot water and stir until it thickens to a custard. Have the whites beaten stiff, the salt beaten with them, turn into the cooking custard and whip briskly while the mixture cooks for exactly one minute longer.

There are two ways in which you can serve this cream: in individual glasses or moulded in one large bowl to be served at table. When the large bowl is your choice the cream is very nice if put in a bowl lined with lady's fingers. Should they not be available thin slices of stale white cake will do very nicely. Serve well chilled.

There are six generous portions in this dessert. The calory total is 735, but this does not include the cake. Allow at least 300 more for cake. Proteins predominate in this recipe.

Last call for our free offer on the new refrigerator recipes. A stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to me TODAY, will still entitle you to a free copy of NEW FROZEN DESSERTS. Au revoir till Monday.

ANN MEREDITH.

Church Societies

Pastor Complimented

Brief talks by Dr. W. H. McPeak, former pastor of United Presbyterian church, and by the Rev. C. M. Aker, pastor of Spurgeon Memorial church, were among pleasant features of the picnic arranged this week by members of the Presbyterian congregation in honor of Dr. and Mrs. McPeak. The outing was held in Irvine park and attended by more than 100 church folk.

Unable to attend the picnic supper with which the evening's events opened, Dr. George A. Warner and the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastors of the First M.E. and First Presbyterian churches, respectively, arrived later in the evening to share in subsequent proceedings.

Orange County Pair Return From Motor Jaunt East

Concluding a twelve weeks' tour of the United States, Cotton Bennett of Santa Ana and William Kohlhorst of Orange were at home today following a motor trip which carried them east to Florida, to New York and to Washington, D. The two travelers enjoyed visits with relatives and friends all over the United States, making their longest sojourns in Iowa and in Arkansas. Various resorts were visited en route, the Orange county travelers stopping at Niagara Falls and in Yellowstone and Yosemite valley before reaching home.

Women of Moose

Guests from Anaheim lodge were present at the recent meeting of the Women of the Moose held in the Moose hall. Visitors gave interesting talks.

Mrs. Carrie Lewis of this city, was welcomed back to the organization, having been away for the past six months. She visited her daughter at Wichita, Kan.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

"The monkeys do their stunts with ease upon that wonderful trapeze," said Coppy, "and I'll bet that I could do some good tricks, too."

"At least I'm going to try my luck. If I get tangled up and stuck, you Tinymites can help me. Wait now, till the monkeys are through."

The biggest monkey of the bunch, all of a sudden, got a bunch that he could hang down by his tail and swing out through the air. He started squealing very loud. "Was to attract the Tiny crowd. It seemed that he was saying, 'Watch! I'll give you all a scare.'"

Then, with the trapeze swinging high, the monkey made everybody sigh by leaping "way out in the air. Said Duncy, "He won't fall. 'Just watch him. He is safe and sound and will not topple to the ground. The act is really clever. He is hanging by his tail!" The next thing that the Tinies knew, the little monk came flying through the air. He lit on Duncy's chest and knocked him to the ground.

The monk then squealed in keen delight. It was a rather funny sight. Poor Duncy jumped up as the other Tinies gathered 'round.

"Well, now's my chance to do some stunts," said Coppy. "I will try it once." He climbed up on the trapeze and amused the Tinymites. All of a sudden Duncy cried, "Perhaps we'd better run and hide. Here comes a great big hippo. Gee! Of all the funny sights!"

"Oh, he's a tame one," Scouty said. "Don't run! We'll ride on him, instead. When we're aboard I'll make him go by giving him a whack!"

The funny hippopotamus stood still and didn't start a fuss when all the happy Tinies climbed upon his big, fat back.

(Duncy tries some wire walking in the next story.)

Young People Resent Attack On 18th Amendment

SEND PROTEST TO CONVENTION; ELECT LEADERS

STRATEGY BODY IS ORGANIZED; TAYLOR TALKS

FULLERTON, June 25.—Santa Ana Valley Baptist Young People's association went on record last night as opposed to the statement recently made by Robert M. Hutchins, president of Chicago university, asking the Democratic convention at Chicago to repeal the 18th amendment to the constitution for the sake of youth.

The 125 young people, representing Baptist associations from all Orange county and from other adjacent districts, met at the Fullerton church in regular yearly meeting. Officers were elected and the Rev. Dr. Bruce Black, pastor of the Wilshire avenue Baptist church, Los Angeles, delivered the address of the evening.

The text of the resolution of protest, to be forwarded to the convention, is as follows:

"Resolved, that we, the young people of Santa Ana Valley Baptist Young People's association, resent and repudiate the statement of Robert M. Hutchins, president of Chicago university, advising the Democratic national convention, now in session, to repeal the 18th amendment for the sake of the young men and women of America, asserting that such a plank will enlist the support of the youth of the nation.

"It is further resolved that we reaffirm our faith in and pledge our support to the 18th amendment of the United States."

The resolution was signed on behalf of the young people by Royce Edson, president, and other officers of the association.

Officers elected were: Lamar Coward, Rivera, president; Judith Smith, Brea, advisory vice president; Esther Cochran, Garden Grove, committee vice president; Edna Robinson, Downey, life service vice president; Marion Terrill, Downey, corresponding secretary; Betty Lehnhardt, Garden Grove, recording secretary; Robert Clingman, Santa Ana, treasurer; Jack Copass, Rivera, devotional life committee; Phyllis Edson, Santa Ana, newswomen committee; Lucille Monroe, Brea, service committee; Helen Mott, Anaheim, fellowship committee; Herman Keenan, La Habra, Myra Raitt, Garden Grove, and Charles Tubbs, Whittier, area directors.

The dinner program included orchestra selections by the Santa Ana Baptist church orchestra, under direction of G. W. Axworthy, and singing, led by Dorothy Woodward, of Fullerton. Whittier, gave a group of whistling numbers. The Whittier Young People's society gave a short skit and Jack Copass, of Rivera, presented a solo. Dr. Black talked on "The Challenge of the Hour."

PLACENTIA, June 25.—Margaret Jean Bradford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bradford, took part in the presentation of "Peter Rabbit" presented by students of the Elita Maas school for children of Anaheim at Anaheim Elwell clubhouse Friday night.

A. W. McCulloch, Placentia avenue rancher, is in Chicago for the Democratic national convention. McCulloch is an alternate delegate-at-large from the newly formed 19th district and is pledged to support John Garner, Texas candidate.

The policy of The Santa Ana Register was contrasted with that of most papers that distort and misrepresent enforcement facts. Hearst papers carry stories six years old of men and boys shot by enforcement officers doing their duty, the speaker said.

As to resubmission of the liquor question, Dr. Taylor said that repeal is being offered with no alternative and that wet forces are desiring repeal by conventions and not by a vote of the people.

THE BACKDOWN OF THE PARTY

"New occasions teach new duties," once said James Russell Lowell. This is brought to mind by the change of front experienced by some of our most conservative leaders. A few years ago the doctrine of a "rugged individualism" was boldly preached from the high places. "More business in government, less government in business," was the cry. At the same time many of those who were giving expression to those terms and phrases had all four feet in the public trough reaching for governmental favors.

Much water has gone over the dam since that time. It has been learned that even a "rugged individualism" doctrine does not work in a time when the bottom has dropped out of business. The individual has been found helpless in the grip of forces which only the vast powers and credit of the government can control, and that only with considerable difficulty. By the force of inexorable circumstances the highest tariff bill in the history of the country has been enacted, income taxes have been increased to high war levels, and billions of dollars have been appropriated by the government to maintain business credit and for relief.

In a complex economic society, the individual has been lost in the crush. Business on a large scale can no longer be financed by a few rich men. The savings of millions are utilized in carrying on our great corporations today. No man, however rich, can dominate the business world. Those days have gone. It is gratifying to know that the leaders of the Republican party have become wise to some of these facts, and that they are surrendering, although somewhat grudgingly, to the trend of events.

If this means an increase of governmental regulation and control it is only that evidence of increasing control which has been going on now for the last twenty-five years, manifest in a half dozen great regulating and controlling commissions sitting in Washington which regulate the affairs of railroads, public utility companies, the film industry, the radio lanes, and the oil companies. We are, as business grows larger and more complex, likely to have more of it than less. A sphere for the play of individualism must be left open, but it must never encroach upon the inherent rights of the public. That has become a settled governmental policy, and no doctrine of simon-pure "rugged individualism" can stand in the way of it.

COLLEGES SHOULD COME DOWN

A recent contributor to the mail box of a New York journal has noted the increase of college expenses during the last ten years. He cites the case of Harvard University. In 1912, the tuition at Harvard was $150. Today it is $400. Six hundred dollars was sufficient to carry a boy through the college year. Today, according to the Harvard catalogue, no boy should think of getting by at Harvard for a minimum of less than $1200. At Wellesley, one of the best known colleges for women, the figure for tuition, board, and room was a flat sum of $475 per year. Today it is much more than double that. At Oberlin College, one of the best known of the middle Western colleges, the tuition was $100. At present it is $300, with a corresponding increase of other expenses.

To be sure, the cost of living increased during the period, and somewhat of an increase may be justified by that fact. But endowments have increased very much more than the cost of living. It would seem that the larger a college's endowment the more expensive it becomes. Now that there has been a great slump in all values, the question may fairly be raised whether the colleges should not deflate somewhat their charges. Generous scholarships are being given, but they rarely cover more than a small proportion of the cost of a college year. The State Universities charge only a nominal fee for tuition; but even in State Universities, unless the student lives at home, the cost is becoming prohibitive for the boy of average means.

It was the intention of the promoters of the higher institutions of learning that education should be available to all worthy boys and girls. This ideal is much threatened in these days by the high costs of education, based, as they are, upon a highly inflated financial condition. The colleges owe something to the average boy. Their endowments were in large measure made that education might be available to the poorest who had ability and worth. The colleges must continue to meet that obligation.

THE BUSINESS OF FORECASTING

C. L. Terrell, a graduate student in the Harvard School of Business Administration, has made a study of the forecasts made by a number of professional forecasters and forecasting services. The results of his study have been printed in the April number of the Harvard Business Review. It reveals an ignorance on the part of such forecasters and forecasting agencies which makes it extremely precarious to stake good money on such supposed inside knowledge.

Out of forty-six cases of forecasting before the collapse in 1929, he finds that fourteen were helpful, twenty-two slightly helpful, six neutral, two slightly misleading, and two misleading. This is not a very good score, considering the amount of money that has to be paid down for such service rendered. He finds that since 1929 the forecaster has broken down entirely. One of the best known forecasting agencies in the country, one which claims to have forecast the collapse in 1929, announced on June 29, 1931, that business had seen its worst. In the same bulletin, the forecaster said, "I am willing to stake my reputation that general business has seen its worst even if recovery is very slow." October 26 came the announcement that during the winter and spring business will round out the U trough. On February 1, of this year, it was announced that business had sounded the bottom in the last quarter of 1931. In similar manner, all forecasters at one time or another said the decline had stopped.

Mr. Terrell accounts for this failure to the mechanized system used by the forecaster. As a statistician he may define the nature of a depression; but he overlooks the fact that no two depressions are alike, and that it is absolutely impossible to gauge the future of business by statistics of the past. It was Jim Hill of the Northern Pacific Railroad who once said that he never dared to speculate in stocks which he did not himself absolutely control. These forecasters and forecasting agencies have much to learn in the light of their past failure, and for the present their vocation is much in disrepute.

LOOKS CAN KILL

The old saying: If looks could kill, has been robbed of its condition by no less an authority than science. Looks can kill. An experiment conducted in a laboratory in Syracuse, New York, has proved that the glance of a woman will kill the living organism in yeast.

It was an astonishing discovery that anger had a definite physical effect on the body—a harmful effect. The man or woman who "lets his angry passions rise" is doing himself a definite bodily injury. In fact he is poisoning himself.

It is no longer "far fetched" to predict that we will soon discover that the unhappy feeling which the recipient of an ugly look has experienced is a definitely harmful thing. Will the time ever come when there will be laws enjoining the individual from casting hateful glances at other people? Such a law would be as justifiable as many already in the statutes.

Comparing the wide variance between the effect of the smile and friendly glance with the scornful, the hateful, the ugly look is as thought provoking a procedure as meditating upon this new discovery in the laboratory in Syracuse.

Looks can kill. They kill the living cells in yeast. They kill the joy in the human heart; they kill friendliness; they kill self-respect; they plant seeds of bitterness and call forth hateful reactions.

Cows and Classics

The Christian Science Monitor

Classical versus practical education is a hardy perennial dear to the hearts of dominies. Dr. William Burnside Curry, while passing through Montreal, has watered it afresh. The art of milking a cow, he says, is more important than memorizing Greek. With this English educationist, practice rides with precept. At his own school the curriculum has room for neither Greek nor Latin, but affords the pupils opportunity to care for animals. Livy and Plato give place to pastoral pursuits.

Many will think, however, that this is one question where it is wise to straddle. If education means something more than mere instruction and stands for wider and fuller culture, why divorce the classical from the practical? Illustrous examples abound to prove it unnecessary. Working as a cotton operative, David Livingstone propped Greek and Latin textbooks up against his loom. Some of the finest odes that Horace penned were written on his little farm among the Sabine Hills, where he alternated agriculture with enthusiastic study of the lyrical verse of the great Greek poets. And the Roman poet gave affectionate tribute to the inspiration gained from bucolic occupation in that quiet retreat.

It is true that many a pedant would sadly bungle that extremely technical task of milking a recalcitrant cow or, for that matter, a perfectly tractable one. On the other hand, the poise and mental refreshment gained from classic study might well prove both practical and useful in meeting the situation with philosophic calm when an unexpected kick from "Bossy" upsets the milker's pail.

Ivan Kreuger's Telephone Was Just Another Fake

The Riverside Enterprise

The English auditors now investigating the late Ivan Kreuger's affairs made a strange discovery recently. A telephone in the room rang several times, but each time they answered it they found a dead wire. Finally it was discovered that the bell was rung by means of a button on the desk. Someone accidentally pushed a button. The inference is that Kreuger used the contraption to get rid of trouble-makers or to impress others. It was a fake, like so many of the activities in which he was plunged.

Such discoveries are going to make the Kreuger myth grow. In addition to real things like the dead-end telephone there will bob up imagined incidents which will eventually envelop memory of the man in a cloud of mystery and romance. Perhaps it can never be more fantastic than was the reality.

A Coupla "Dough" Boys Without!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

VICARIOUS ADVENTURE

I'm fond of tales of derring do
Although they raise my hair;
I like to read of men who've tread
An irate grizzly bear.
And how the creature, brought to bay,
Gives out a bitter cry.
Lights on the ground with one long bound
And smites them, hip and thigh.
For such events I'm always keen
When they are in a magazine.

I like to read Joe Conrad's stuff
Of breaking, towering waves,
And sailors who seem shortly due
To sink in watery graves.
Joe makes me hear the howling gale,
He makes me feel the shock
When with great bumps the vessel thumps
Upon a ledge of rock.
Such yarns I find extremely pleasant
When I am not among those present.

Adventure tangles in my blood,
I always like to hear
Of jungle stunts like lion hunts;
I love the thrill of fear.
I like to hear of killer whales
And grizzly anecdotes
Of how they swim up, gaunt and grim,
And rip the keels from boats.
To me adventure's always grand
When I can take it second-hand.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

LET LEADERS BE BOLD!

Because it is, I think vital and pertinent to the critical hour in our national life, I revive, in slightly revised form, a suggestion I made some months ago.

A political suicide pact deliberately entered into by the political and economic leaders of the world would do more, just now, than any other single thing to bring order out of chaos, security out of insecurity, and to stabilize and enrich the life of the world generally.

I mean a pact pledging the political and economic leaders of the states and nations of the world to risk the loss of their leadership by flying in the face of the obsolete policies and passions for group advantage that are everywhere bringing the world's life to a standstill and preventing the application of even the most elementary common sense to the political and economic relations of our time.

This is not, let me hasten to say, a flippant fling at the men at the helm of affairs in America and the rest of the world.

There is not a single nation in the Western world that is not headed by a man of capacity.

But there is not a single nation in the Western world in which today the sincerity and capacity of its political leadership are coming fully into play.

It is inconceivable to me that the presidents, premiers, dictators, and associate leaders of the major nations of the Western world could not determine, in calm conference, if they threw local and political considerations to the wind, the broad lines along which the social and economical stabilization of the world must move.

They could! But political necessity forces them to play a suspicious poker game one with the other, and a weary world sings a Deum when ever so slight an advance towards sanity comes out of an international conference.

A mass of nationalistic and party prejudices and fears and timidity levels a persistent blackmail against the courage of these leaders.

I am aware that I am painting a fantastic picture, but what a tonic to a tired world it would be to see the political and economic leaders of all states and all nations turn their backs, in a kind of open conspiracy, against the fears and prejudices and vested interests of their own parties, their own groups, and their own people and demand and direct the elaboration of state, national, and international programs that common sense indicates regardless of the party, group, or national policies and prejudices that might have to be sacrificed in the interest of the recovery and stabilization of the world's life.

This would mean a political suicide pact!

But might not the unexpected happen, and the very daring of it awaken the now slumbering common sense of the common millions throughout the world?

This may prove the only road to immortality for the existing political and economic leadership of the Western world.

VISITING

Visiting is an art. If it is well practiced it is a joy to both sides of the affair. If it isn't, then a visit becomes an infliction and a bore.

Children need to go visiting. The only way they can learn about the world of people and things is to go abroad among them. To do this they need to be fitted with a set of manners. It won't do to say, "We are going to visit Aunt Mary. Come along."

A visit ought to have preparation. I think it is always wise and certainly it is better manners, to prepare your host and hostess for your visit. Ask if it is desirable.

There is nothing so annoying as a descent of a relative with children upon a busy working day, or upon some festive occasion. I have a picture of a greatly distressed hostess and her visitor upon a birthday occasion. The hostess had not thought of inviting this relative to the birthday dinner she was giving and in she walked with the three children bearing gifts just as the guests were breaking bread at the festive board. It was awful.

Having made the preliminary arrangements proceed to prepare the child. Review the manners for visiting. "Show me how you will greet Aunt Mary." "Make believe I'm the maid that offers you a cookie." "If Aunt Mary asks you to have a glass of milk what will you say?" "You'll remember to see that every lady in the room has a chair before you sit down, won't you?" Get all the worries off your mind before you go and then whatever happens, don't let your anguish overcome you and force you to an outcry. Good breeding forbids a scene.

Don't take children to a party unless you have been invited, specifically, to do so. It isn't going to please your hostess if you have to lay down your hand every few minutes to attend to John or Mabel. Your child has meanings deeper for you than for anybody else in the world. To the onlookers he is just another child, more or else of a nuisance through to you he is all of life. Nobody can help that, not even yourself.

Shorten the time that child must stand at attention in dress form. No child can stand that for any length of time without cracking. A lot of the misconduct of visiting children is caused by the pressure of new conditions, prolonged strain and fear. Little children, those under five, ought not to be held in the house of a friend longer than ten minutes. They ought to be sent to a play place free of the supervision, apparent supervision, of their elders.

Teach the children how to behave in shops and stores. They are not to handle things. They are not, under any circumstances, to ask to have things bought for them. Be merciful and do not show children a world of beautiful enchantments unless you have it in your power to buy a bit of them for him to carry home. But he must not ask.

Visiting is a part of social living. Prepare children for it, drill them in the performance of their part by playing visits. You can be host and hostess, or you can be the guest. You have no idea how much it will help all round.

Miss Ruth Goodwin and Edward Roberts Wed At Church Rites

With only members of their immediate families as guests, Miss Ruth Goodwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Goodwin, 522 East Chestnut street, and Edward R. Roberts, last night took their nuptial vows before the Rev. George A. Warner, D. D., at a wedding of quiet dignity and beauty, held at 7:30 o'clock in the chapel of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Many flowers contributed to this beauty, the altar being especially lovely with its massed gladioli in which delicate tints of pink blended with deep golden hues.

Gowned in White
Miss Goodwin wore an all-white costume, choosing a semi-empire frock with hat, gloves and slippers in bridal white, and with the sole touch of color lent by a great cluster of orchids with lily of the valley shower. With her as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Venna Goodwin, whose frock was similar in style to that worn by the bride, but was in a combination of coral and white, with hat and other dress accessories repeating the white motif.

Paul Hall, a brother-in-law of Mr. Roberts, served him as best man and completed the bridal group.

Honeymoon Plans
Immediately after repeating their vows the young people left for their honeymoon trip, which friends believe was planned to include the Grand Canyon. They expected to make the journey a short one, with an early return to the home in Brea awaiting their occupancy.

Mr. Roberts is manager of a Brea department store. His bride, who graduated from Santa Ana Junior college after finishing high school in Fullerton, took both graduate and post graduate courses at Mills college. Since completion of her college courses she has been at the head of the department of Brea-Olinda high school.

In the summer of 1930 she had the pleasant experience of touring Europe and visiting the principal art centers of the continent as a member of the Mills college Art Tour, gaining experience and new ideas which have been invaluable to her in her teaching.

Young Hostess Feted On Birthday Date By Her Friends

One of the enjoyable events of the week was the birthday celebration planned for Miss Eunice Blanchard, when, much to her surprise, a merry group of close friends assembled at her home on North Flower street with unmistakable intentions to stage a delightful party.

Their plans included the lively game of cootie in which all participated after the hostess had recovered from her surprise. Other games and amusements were introduced, and at a late hour Mrs. R. Blanchard, mother of the honoree, placed the climax on the pleasant evening by serving refreshments of ice cream, chocolate cake, angel food cake, candies and salted nuts.

Sharing the evening's pleasures were the Misses Mildred Marchant, Genevieve Eustis, Gladys Dunn, Geraldine Cole, Velma Jones, Leah Kiker, Vivian Blanchard, Helen Blanchard, and the honoree and her mother, Miss Eunice Blanchard and Mrs. R. Blanchard.

Club Members Spend Day at Newport Beach

A day at Newport Beach was enjoyed this week by members of the Martha Washington club and their husbands and friends. Following a delicious picnic luncheon, almost all of the party enjoyed a dip in the ocean.

Those in the group were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Covey, Mr. and Mrs. George Peters, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. House, Mrs. Stella Henderson, Mrs. Ines Baker, Mrs. Bees McDonald, Mrs. Pauline Decker, and special guests including Mrs. E. Wilderfelt of Long Beach and Mrs. Della Miller of this city.

Jerry-Wolford Wedding Impressive Event in St. Ann's Church

When Miss Evangeline Wolford became the bride of Daniel Jerry at an impressive ceremony held Tuesday, June 21, in St. Ann's Catholic church, it was the first of a trio of nuptial events which aroused special interest in this community because the half dozen young people were such close friends, and because their banns were read on the same day.

The weddings on successive days after that of Miss Wolford and Mr. Jerry, were the Maulhardt-Marriage in Los Angeles, and the McDonald-McDonald rites at San Juan Capistrano.

Church Rites
For the first of these events, Miss Wolford and Mr. Jerry were principals in a most effective ceremony for which St. Ann's church was decked with colorful flowers. The bride proceeded to the altar on the arm of her father, Charles F. Wolford, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March. She was charming in her sweeping gown of supple satin gleaming beneath a tulle veil edged with Alencon lace matching the lace cap caught to her hair with orange blossoms. She carried in addition to her great cluster of bride roses showered with lilies of the valley, Mr. Jerry's gift of a pearl rosary, and the little white kid-bound prayer book which her mother had carried as a bride.

Miss Gladys McDonald, so soon to follow her as a bride, and Miss Helen Bentlien were bridesmaids, and were gowned alike in pale green lace net over taffeta, with sashes of peach satin. Little hats of beige lace with touches of green, harmonized with slippers in beige kid, and their bouquets of sweet peas in peach hues were tied with green satin ribbons.

Miss Stella Roelands as maid of honor, wore an elaborately tucked frock of soft peach silk, and her beige lace hat was trimmed with peach tinted flowers matching also the ribbons which tied her cluster of orchid sweet peas. Little Mary Jean Elkholt as flower girl, completed the bride's attendants, and was a quaint picture in a ruffled Kate Greenaway frock of shell-pink organdy with large organdy hat to match. She scattered rose petals from a ribboned basket.

Mr. Jerry was assisted by Erhart Hagerman as best man, and Messrs. Charles W. Wolford and Richard Wolford as ushers.

Cousin Reads Service
Conducting the ceremony was the Rev. Louis Buechner of San Diego, a cousin of the bride. He was ordained into the order of Catholic priesthood only five weeks ago, and his cousin's wedding was the first at which he has officiated since his ordination. At the solemn high mass which followed the ceremony, Father Buechner was assisted by Tony Knapp and B. Glockner.

Following the nuptials, the new Mr. and Mrs. Jerry were complimented at an elaborate wedding breakfast in the Green Cat cafe, where bridal appointments of the table included a three-tiered cake adorned with roses and orange blossoms, and surmounted by a small bride and groom beneath a latticed arch.

When the newlyweds left for Los Angeles, to attend the Maulhardt-Marriage wedding on the following day, the bride wore a smart sports ensemble of printed crepe whose black and coral design was accented by her hat, patent leather purse and other dress accessories. A carriage of gardenias completed her costume. After the wedding and its attendant festivities in Los Angeles, the young people returned home for the third in the series of romantic events, the McDonald nuptials. Then with the new Mr. and Mrs. McDonald, they left for a honeymoon trip to the Yosemite and Sequoia National park.

Breakfast Guests
Guests who were entertained at the wedding breakfast included in addition to the newlyweds and their wedding attendants, the Rev. JUNE WEDDING BELLS HAVE CHIMED FOR THIS BEVY OF RECENT BRIDES

MRS. RAY MARSH
MRS. ALBERT T. CROSWHITE

It was immediately after the conclusion of her junior year at Pomona college that Miss Dorothy Van Valin of La Habra Heights, announced her betrothal to Ray Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Marsh of Santa Ana. The wedding of the young couple was invested with that charm which an al fresco marriage in a California mid-summer attains, for it was held Thursday afternoon, June 23, in the gardens of the Grant A. Van Valin home in the neighboring community when the only daughter of the home plighted her troth to the young rancher before the Rev. R. C. Brooks, D. D. of Claremont. Mr. and Mrs. Marsh are now enjoying a motor honeymoon through northern California, and will return to make their home in La Habra where Mr. Marsh is connected with the P. J. Weisel ranch.

MRS. ALBERT T. CROSWHITE
Returning from their honeymoon in Wrightwood, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tony Croswite are established very pleasantly at 113 South Sycamore street, where they are welcoming their many friends.

Bouquets of yellow rosebuds, China nuptials of varying shades lent further adornment to the tables, where refreshments were enjoyed while guests were entertained at the piano by Miss Mildred Pearson.

Sharing Miss Shippe's hospitality were the Misses Florence Wassum, Gwen Griffin, Eloise Schrier, Florence Turner, Audrey McDonald, Juliette Taylor, Ruth Dohmer, Jeanne Paxton, Lorraine Wheeler, Mary Nau, Mildred Pearson, Fern Anderson, Dorothy White, Edna Young, Betty Nie-Jorgall, and Millicent Berman; Mesdames Al Adrian, George L. Wheeler, B. M. Baker, H. G. Lyman and George A. Shippe. Mrs. Walter Wright, outgoing guardian, was out of town and unable to be present. Miss Lorraine Shippe, sister of the hostess, assisted with party details.

The occasion was made a happy event of Thursday evening when the birthday feast was enjoyed by the reunited family and other Southland relatives, in the gardens of the Sylvester home. An informal picnic style was adopted, and making merry around the inviting table were Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester, their four visiting daughters, Mrs. R. M. Wildish, Webster City, Iowa; Mrs. S. A. Johnston, North Platte, Neb.; Mrs. Ray Pool, Blunt, S. D.; and Mrs. L. C. Marshall and daughter Clare, Salem, Ore., together with Alex Grant, a brother of the hostess; Miss Margaret Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur K. Getty and children, Margaret, Patricia and Billy; Mr. Getty's mother, Mrs. Edith Getty, all of Santa Ana, and Paul Sylvester, of Long Beach, nephew of the hostess.

The long happy informality that distinguished the dinner hour, continued throughout the evening, when interest was divided between cards, reminiscences of former meetings, and plans for trips, outings and parties to enliven the summer visit of the four sisters.

Capistrano Mission Romantic Setting For Marriage

In the old San Juan Capistrano mission, epitomizing the romance of early California, Miss Gladys Margaret McDonald and Richard James McDonald, both of this city, spoke their marriage vows this week at an impressively simple service conducted at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, with Father John Ruidin of Los Angeles reading the rites.

The beauty of the setting was markedly enhanced by an abundance of carnations, roses, bougainvillea and palms, while a program of carefully selected solos and duets, sung by Mrs. May Weber, director of the Catholic church choir of Anaheim, and by Mr. Morgan of Anaheim, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Clara Faust, also of that city, further enriched the service.

Before and during the ceremony several numbers were heard, these including a duet, "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," baritone solos, "Oh Sacred Heart, Oh Love Divine" and "Ave Maria"; and duets, "Oh Lord I Am Not Worthy" and "What Could My Jesus Do More."

Bride Charming
Attired in rosewood crepe with trimming of lace, wearing a graceful picture hat, and carrying Talieman roses and lilies of the valley, the bride appeared on the arm of her uncle, B. W. Flanagan, who gave her in marriage. Preceding her was her matron of honor, Mrs. Baird T. Spill, whose costume was of cream lace over taffeta of the same color, and who carried Claudius Pernet roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Flanagan, another uncle of the bride, served Mr. McDonald as best man.

The service at an end, Father Ruidin expressed his personal good wishes to the couple before Mendelssohn's Wedding March ushered them out of the church to receive the congratulations of their friends. At the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe in Santa Ana, shortly after the ceremony, bridal party, relatives and intimate friends assembled for a wedding breakfast at which a bride's cake, placed upon a table bearing a centerpiece of pink and white sweet peas, favors and ice cream molds of appropriate design, was cut before the newlyweds departed on their honeymoon to Yosemite valley. Before taking their leave they informed friends that they planned to be established at 1212 Orange avenue after July 10.

For travelling, Mrs. McDonald donned an attractive costume of brown.

Former Nebraskan
The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. McDonald of Greta, Neb., has resided in Santa Ana for two years, having come to this city following her graduation from the Greta high school and the Vance Santa Business college of Nebraska. In Santa Ana she has been engaged as private secretary to her uncle, B. W. Flanagan at the Southern Corporation, Limited.

Her husband, the son of Mrs. C. H. McDonald of Salt Lake City, is now occupied with the Texas Oil company at Huntington, Texas, attended schools in that city.

L. L. Beeman Addresses League on Subject of Disarmament

The progress of the disarmament conference from its first meeting to its most recent activities, as reported in bulletins as late as yesterday, was ably reviewed by L. L. Beeman of the Santa Ana Junior college before members of the League of Women Voters at the Y. W. C. A. yesterday. Mr. Beeman's study of the conference was found lucid and interesting by the members and many questions provoked by the talk were answered by the speaker later in the afternoon. Mr. Beeman's appearance was arranged by Mrs. D. D. Field.

Mrs. A. J. Knight will entertain the league in her home on West Chapman street, Orange, on July 20, it was arranged yesterday. Various topics will be discussed at this meeting, which will be an all-day affair. A pot luck dinner will be served. Mrs. J. D. Campbell, president of the league, who is now away on vacation, is expected home by that date.

Appointment of Mrs. Virgil Clem to serve as recording secretary for the balance of the year, was made yesterday.

Birthday Dinner Given For Mrs. Holsclaw

In observance of the recent birthday anniversary of Mrs. David Holsclaw of Smetzer, a dinner party was given in her honor in the home of her mother, Mrs. E. S. Heil, 435 South Birch street. Gladioli were used in decorative effect for rooms and dinner table and a lovely anniversary cake centered the table.

Places were laid for 11, the party including Mr. and Mrs. David Holsclaw and son, John Lewis Holsclaw, and Vernon Heil and sons, Bobby and Billy of Smetzer; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sauer of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. John Baker and Mrs. E. S. Heil of Santa Ana.

Church Members Give Shower Honoring Young Couple

This week's events honoring Miss Ruth Swanson and Carl Lykke were climaxed with a charming shower given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. McKinley, South Main street, with members of the church of the Four Square Gospel as hosts. The wedding of Mr. Lykke and Miss Swanson is to take place June 30.

Miss Swanson is a member of the church whose members so graciously joined in entertaining. Guests included children from the bride-elect's Sunday school class as well as those of the young people's and adult departments.

After an informal evening of chatting and group singing, Miss Swanson and Mr. Lykke were asked to take their places before a table beautifully decorated with pink hearts and an open parasol of pink and orchid decked with pastel streamers. The parasol concealed many lovely shower gifts for the engaged couple.

The Sunday school department had chosen a set of wisteria crystal, while the church had selected a China dinner set for the honored guests.

At a late hour a buffet supper was served to the 75 guests. For the occasion the table had been attractively decorated with a centerpiece of delphinium, breath of heaven and carnations. Pink tapers were used for lighting. Mrs. S. D. Holland presided at the coffee urns and Mrs. Winfield Cole served punch.

During the evening, guests spent some time on the pretty grounds of the home, which had been attractively lighted for the event.

Patriotic Bodies Join In Dinner Meeting And Program

Sons and Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War were out in numbers last night, to enjoy the good fellowship of the covered dish dinner and subsequent program which was the joint social event for June of the two patriotic organizations.

Dinner was served at a table colorful with decorations which included a centerpiece of fluted paper in bright colors, from whose rising tiers gleamed candles in pastel hues. The dining room committee responsible for decorative and menu details was composed of Mesdames Florence Perry, Helen Huntley, Maude Perkins, Geraldine Bean and Kate Rinsched.

Adjoining from banquet room to the main assembly room the Sons and Daughters shared an interesting program. Walter Somerby, entertainment chairman for the evening, had been called unexpectedly to Los Angeles, so his duties were assumed by C. F. Millen. All joined in singing "America" and presenting the Flag Salute. Mrs. Grace Cross, musician for the R. N. A. drill team, was at the piano for the song, and later for details of the program.

Leroy Finster, introduced as "Neddy's Yodeling Cowboy," sang "Daddy At Home," "Whisper Your Mother's Name," and "My Old Pal." He was so well received that he gave additional numbers in response to the applause.

Mrs. B. M. Crawford, manager of the Royal Neighbors drill team, then presented that accomplished group in a drill which everyone declared to have been one of the finest they had ever witnessed. Mrs. Gross was at the piano and Miss Trena Johnson served as flag bearer. Members were in uniform costumes, with groups of four in pastel colors, pink, yellow, orchid, etc.

Mrs. and Mrs. Willis Cadwallader were in general charge of plans for the event, which was shared also by Mr. and Mrs. Royce A. Edson, Miss Louise Markwalder, Miss Evelyn Wiebe and her houseguest, Miss Gladys Kenzenberg of Long Beach; Miss Jean Bishop, Miss Helen Blanchard, Miss Helen Dallas, Miss Evelyn Yeager, Miss Des Rutledge of Long Beach, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cadwallader, and Messrs. Bethel Officers Feted By Outgoing Leader At Card Affair

Retiring officers of the Job's Daughters order, Santa Ana Bethel, and members of the outgoing and incoming Bethel councils were the guests of Miss Thelma Shippe Thursday night when Miss Shippe, who retires this month as honored queen of the Bethel, entertained delightfully in her home at 633 North Van Ness avenue.

Job's Daughter executives passed a pleasantly informal evening, with cootie providing the principal diversion. Attractive prizes provided for winners, were bestowed upon Miss Eloise Schrier, Miss Marjorie McDonald, and Miss Gwen Griffin at the end of play for holding first, second and low scores, respectively. Mrs. Leslie M. Pearson was successful among members of the Bethel councils.

Birthday of Hostess Celebrated With Dinner

Although the recent golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Sylvester, 415 Orange avenue, had to be celebrated with Santa Ana relatives alone, and minus the presence of the four daughters of the hosts, all of whom reside in distant points, the closing of the school year made it possible for these absent members of the family to meet in this city in time to celebrate with their parents, the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Sylvester.

The occasion was made a happy event of Thursday evening when the birthday feast was enjoyed by the reunited family and other Southland relatives, in the gardens of the Sylvester home. An informal picnic style was adopted, and making merry around the inviting table were Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester, their four visiting daughters, Mrs. R. M. Wildish, Webster City, Iowa; Mrs. S. A. Johnston, North Platte, Neb.; Mrs. Ray Pool, Blunt, S. D.; and Mrs. L. C. Marshall and daughter Clare, Salem, Ore., together with Alex Grant, a brother of the hostess; Miss Margaret Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur K. Getty and children, Margaret, Patricia and Billy; Mr. Getty's mother, Mrs. Edith Getty, all of Santa Ana, and Paul Sylvester, of Long Beach, nephew of the hostess.

The long happy informality that distinguished the dinner hour, continued throughout the evening, when interest was divided between cards, reminiscences of former meetings, and plans for trips, outings and parties to enliven the summer visit of the four sisters.

MUSIC LITERATURE ART

MUZIO CLEMENTI

BY RUTH ANDREWS

A full century has passed since the death of Muzio Clementi, noted classic composer-virtuoso and master of musical technique. Originator of the brilliant piano style of composition and virtuosity in piano playing, and recognized as one of the most important musical figures of the early nineteenth century by reason of his unusual achievements, Clementi's valuable technical works still form a firm basis for musical pedagogy that his name is well assured a prominent place in musical history for all time.

Born at Rome, January 24, 1752, Clementi's early love for music was fostered by his father, a goldsmith and amateur musician who encouraged his son and made possible the lessons in organ and harmony which Clementi received from the time he was a tiny lad. At nine years the boy obtained a position as an organist in Rome, as the result of a competition in which even mature players participated.

Clementi's musical studies included voice, piano, and composition, and were continued in Italy until his fourteenth year, at which time he appeared in a public piano concert, so impressing an English gentleman named Beckford who was present, that offers were made by him to continue the talented boy's musical education in England, under his own supervision.

Accordingly, Clementi went with his patron to the latter's home in Dorsetshire, where for several years he profited from an intensive study of the classics, including the works of Corelli, Rameau, Scarlatti, Handel and other masters of similar renown. This early classic training doubtless explains the scholarly trend of Clementi's own works.

At eighteen Clementi appeared in concert in London, astonishing the public with his talents as a virtuoso of marvelous technical skill, and taking the English music center by storm.

From this time on, Clementi's colorful life was filled to the brim with many-sided activities. He has been aptly termed by biographers "a picturesque and versatile actor on the stage of life." Not only did he make a name for himself as a virtuoso and composer of remarkable talent within a few years time, but he also won wide fame as a teacher, publisher and shrewd business man, combining extraordinary mental qualities with a flair for the practical, which eventually won for him a fortune.

At 21 Clementi had already published several piano sonatas, dedicated to Haydn, that were such models of excellence they later established the form for similar works. From 25 to 28 Clementi conducted the Italian Opera, leaving this role for a period of concertizing through France

Germany, and Austria, climaxed by a competition with Mozart in piano playing and improvisation, held in Vienna during Clementi's twenty-ninth year.

This event marked the beginning of a cruel rivalry between Mozart and Clementi, in which the former was especially bitter, terming Clementi a "mere mechanic, lacking feeling and taste." On the other hand, Clementi was quick to recognize the musical qualities of Mozart, and embodied them in his own later works. It is quite possible that in technical ability Clementi was even Mozart's superior.

Again leaving for London, Clementi now settled in the British center for a period of twenty years, continuing his activities as a composer, and also winning great renown as a teacher and authority of musical technique. He also established his own highly successful piano factory and publishing house and profited much through these business ventures, broken occasionally by concert tours, on which he accompanied some of his more brilliant pupils. Among famous musicians who profited from Clementi's training, were the noted Irish pianist-composer, John Field, also the famous technical composers, Cramer, Moscheles and Kalkbrenner, as well as Kienig, Berger, Ziemer and Meyerbeer.

Most of Clementi's later life was spent in London, his interests being divided between his mercantile ventures and the perfection of his many musical compositions, including symphonies, overtures, more than 100 sonatas, for piano, together with countless lesser works for the same instrument. His masterpiece, however, was his famous collection of technical studies, the "Gradus ad Parnassum," still used extensively by pianists, and offering an enduring proof of Clementi's renown as one of the greatest piano teachers of all time.

During his long, eventful lifetime, Clementi had ample time to witness the rise of many famous contemporaries, as well as many great changes in styles of piano playing. Handel and Scarlatti were still living during Clementi's youth, and as he grew to maturity, such widely contrasting personalities as Mozart, Haydn, Beethoven, Schumann, Schubert, Mendelssohn, Chopin and Liszt enjoyed their separate days of popularity.

Although the centenary of Clementi's death occurred last March, his fame still endures, and he is affectionately spoken of as one of the "three Cs," his name being linked with those immortal masters of piano technique, Czerny and Cramer, and triumvirate the importance of whose contribution to piano literature is difficult to overestimate.

BOOK REVIEWS

By MARY BURKE KING

Doctor Kerkhoven by Jacob Wasserman, published by Horace Liveright.

"Doctor Kerkhoven" will not sufficiently reward everyone's time. It is voluminous but not tedious. It is rather important for it is regarded as an exposition of German society today. In this respect it is coupled with Alexanderplatz, Berlin—the two comprising an adequate or not an adequate picture of Germany according to one's opinion. Since, however, few of us in this country are in a position to judge the accuracy of the picture or the novelist's observations it has its limitations.

Insofar as pro-war society in Germany is like that in every other country which has experienced war reactions the picture can be judged. Germany probably presents the extreme of the war reactions. There the demoralization was probably at the worst. There the youth movement, made up of very young people was strongest and remains the strongest. Dr. Kerkhoven, who may be taken at various points as the chosen spokesman of the author is interested in life as it is in his observations of youth that there lives the most universal appeal of the book. Dr. Kerkhoven speaks of the gap which lies between the surviving older generations in Germany and the youth—the vacancy left by the war dead. Youth, forced to face reality too suddenly experiences a shock. So it is with youth in Germany. If Dr. Kerkhoven's ideas were as simple and limited as that statement of course there would be no need for a six hundred fifty page book. Much insight into human nature is to be gained from the book, and the particular value is in the second half the first, however, being a necessary background.

Dr. Kerkhoven is really two books in one. The first is "The World That Was"; the second is "The World That Is." The war intervenes between the two.

At times it seems that the thesis of the book is too confused by story. There has been criticism of Dr. Kerkhoven's obsession with insanity. Insofar as it may be symbolic of the disintegration of the German people it is a necessary part of the book, undoubtedly.

It is a book that causes one to yearn for discussion. But by the time one has found a friend who has read it to discuss it with so much time has passed that one has forgotten the subtle nuances and discussion is of limited value.

Saints and Sinners by Gamaliel Bradford, published by Houghton Mifflin Co.

Gamaliel Bradford set both a standard and a style. No more delightful summer reading could be found than this group of biographical sketches of seven individuals—four sinners and three saints. The group, in order is: Caesar Borgia, Saint Francis of Assisi, Casanova, Thomas a Kempis, Talleyrand, Fenelon and Byron.

The essays whet the appetite for biography on the one hand and history on the other.

It is an interesting question whether the author makes the lives of the sinners more attractive than the lives of the saints or whether that is just individual reaction. Certainly St. Francis and Fenelon are as attractive as Talleyrand and Byron, as portrayed in this book.

The author sees an interesting parallel between the Renaissance and the present age. And a comparison with the Renaissance as Bradford saw it and the Renaissance to which Dr. Glenn Frank referred in his book "Thunder and Dawn" is not amiss. Mr. Bradford saw a free, joyous, intoxicated revel in the life of the immediate present as the supreme characteristic of the Renaissance—a rebirth, a rediscovery of this human world in which we live. Contrarily, "Renaissance is often assumed to be identical with Revival of Learning."

Mr. Bradford's character analyses are so keen, his perceptions so wisely governed that the book amounts to a philosophical treatise on the art of living for all that it is so delightfully interesting.

"Saints and Sinners" is probably the last book that we will have from Gamaliel Bradford. His pen is forever still and unless from among his papers some manuscript is resurrected "Saints and Sinners" is the last. It is this author at his best and there is no hesitancy about recommending it to any group of reading people with a guarantee of pleasure.

AS I SEE IT by Norman Thomas, published by The Macmillan company.

Several months ago a correspondent wrote in and asked for a review of this book or the Norman Thomas book just preceding it: America's Way Out. This second book is an effort to bring up to date the position the author assumed in "America's Way Out."

Mr. Thomas is an intelligent and charming man, the son and grandson of Presbyterian ministers. The thinking of the world is traveling so fast these days that the socialist who was regarded as radical only a few years ago is today, when compared with the Communist or the Fascist rather conservative. It is disarming to read in this book that the author believes in many things which are sanely harmonious with rational thinking today. For example he sees it as an evil and menace to international peace that private industry should manufacture arms and munitions.

As I see it is thoughtful and stimulating. There is no reason for being afraid of it for as George Bernard Shaw has said there is not enough socialism in the United States to upset an applecart. According to the figures, in round numbers, the socialist vote dropped from its peak, when Eugene point: "Success in life is due to ambition, courage, energy, brain—and accident." All these elements have entered into the career of the speaker of the House. The author of the book has known "The Speaker of the House" for thirty years.

Women will be particularly interested in the Garner "partnership" as the author calls it. Mrs. Garner has served as her husband's secretary ever since he went to Washington.

"The Speaker of the House" is an informative book. One can read the lines, and one can read between the lines.

Poets of Southern California

ROY WALTER JAMES

Roy Walter James was born in Garvanza and besides teaching is interested in science, music, painting and poetry. The following is from his volume of Scientific Poems, dark, wild verses that take one beyond the confines of space and time.

RANCHO LA BREA

Roy Walter James

The air slips through the pepper boughs;
The dangling eucalyptus leaves high up
Sway joyously on slender stems;
Gay, shining, blackbirds swarm among the trees,
Filling the morning air with gleeful sound;
Shrinking shadows creep along
the grass
Toward the tree trunks, clutching at the earth
Beneath their mighty limbs.

I look in vain
Across the undulating mound of green
All corneted, for some weird sign or sight
That would suggest the ancient tragedy.

Without reward I look, across the reedy pond
Where redwings swing, for some gray spectral form
That might suggest the terrifying woe

Which was expressed in howl, pathetic wail,
Or howling, when prehistoric beasts
Died here, a quarter million years ago.

For knowing as I do of old black bones
That are preserved in asphalt buried there
Beneath the sod beyond that clump of trees,
Vainly I seek some phantom of the past

To symbolize past woe, but all is joy.

Long threadlike clouds sweep over the mountain tops;
An airplane dromes in wheeling,
speedy flight.

And auto whiz along the boulevard,
Blue, oily bubbles sparkle on the pond,
Reflecting rainbow colors from the sky.

Gay redwings flit from reed to reed and swing,
A meadowlark calls clear across
the grass;

The blackbirds flitter, singing joyous songs.

The air slips softly by me through the trees,
No sign of ancient woe and death is here.

Now all at once my spirit is bowed low
And overwhelmed to see how nature sings.

But sings of life—how nature speaks, but not
Of great past woe—how nature, blithe, knows well
Of death throughout the Universe, but falls

To let us know, except as we may seek
And find. She will not tell. Without regret
She quickly covers death and sings of life.
